Calendar of Court, Trial
Starting Tomorrow

ONE PLEADS GUILTY

Morton County Farmer Pleads
Guilty to Having Moonshine in His Possession

The March term of federal court opened here today with Federal Judge Miller presiding and a calendar before him which might keep the jury and court attaches busy for more than a week.

The court opened at 10 o'clock this morning and the first session was consumed chiefly in the calling of the civil docket. District Attorney Seth Richardson arrived at noon from Fargo and was to take up in court this afternoon the question of when the criminal cases pending will be heard.

One plea of guilty was received during the morning. Andrew Ellis, farmer living northwest of Mandan, pleaded guilty to having moonshine liquor in his possession. There was no evidence he intended to sell the liquor. Assistant District Attorney P. B. Gargery informed the court, and his automobile had been confiscated and will be retained by the government. He was fined $25 and informed that a jail sentence would follow a subsequent appearance.

The first case to be heard is that of P. J. McCumber against the American Alliance Insurance Company, set for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock before a jury. Frank Murphy of Minot is representing the plaintiff.

The following law cases were called but were listed not for trial at this term by attorneys: Midland National Bank, etc. vs. Thos. E. Hayward; Bismarck Water Supply Co. vs. E. G. Patterson; Morris Rosen in three cases against the Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Co.; the Home Insurance Co. and the Union Fire Insurance Co. The case of Jacob J. Verbrugh vs. Genial Coal Mining Company was listed for trial, as was the case of McCabe-Bryce vs. M. G. Egan et al.; James Cox Davis vs. First State Bank of Ft. Yates and James Cox Davis vs. P. J. Jacobson. Equity cases listed for trial are St. Paul Cattle and Loan Co. vs. F. C. Turner and T. J. Kasper, trustee, vs. Citizens State Bank of Hazen, et al. There are several United States civil cases which may be tried, among them one against F. C. Turner alleged to have used Indian land without paying rental.

Attorneys for both sides in the case of the Bismarck Water Supply Co. vs. E. G. Patterson asked that the case be passed for the present. It may be tried in September. Judge Miller said that although he was not legally disqualified in the case he was more or less familiar with surrounding circumstances, and felt that he should call on another judge to try it. He was informed by M. Hanley that counsel for both sides were willing he try the case, but he said he would seek another judge.

There were 31 jurors in court when their names were called and none sought to be excused. R. C. Montgomery, clerk of court; James Shea, U. S. Marshal and others of the federal court staff are here from Fargo for the term of court.

N. P. ALSO TO DIG OWN WELL?

Furnished Water From
Hughes Plant Well For Tests

Water has been furnished Northern Pacific engineers two or three times from the new well of the Hughes Electric Company, started at its plant since the city took over the water works. It was reported to the city commission last night by George Doorley, superintendent of the city water works. The water "burned" in the engines, according to Mr. Doorley's report. Whether the Northern Pacific is planning to dig a well similar to the Hughes well and discontinue using city water was not known to the water works superintendent.

The commission, in its meeting, hired M. W. Gabert to paint the 80-foot iron flag-pole in the Northern Pacific park. It will be given two coats of paint. A petition was received, signed by several property owners on Griffin street, near Thayer and Rosser, asking for water mains, a sewer and sidewalks.

City assessment problems were discussed with W. A. Falconer, city assessor, who reported also on the Jamestown meeting of assessors.

CASE POSTPONED

The case in which North Dakota is seeking to collect an inheritance tax from the Alexander McKenna estate has again been continued by mutual consent of parties. County Judge L. C. Davies announced today. It may come up again April 1.

APPEAL HEARD IN LA FOLLETTE BALLOT BATTLE

Supreme Court Entertains Appeal and Advances Case
on the Calendar Today

HEARING IS CONDUCTED

The supreme court today decided to entertain the appeal from the order of District Judge F. T. Lemke to Secretary of State Hall to place Robert M. LaFollette's name on the presidential preference primary ballot of March 18 and granted the petition to advance the case on the calendar.

"The appeal was presented by Attorneys W. H. Stutsman of Mandan and William Langer of Bismarck and is in the name of Thomas Hall. After perfecting the appeal this morning it was presented to the court and attorneys urged that it be advanced above other cases now on the calendar. The supreme court decided to hear arguments on the appeal this afternoon.

Attorneys for the respondent Secretary of State, in their reply to the application, before Judge Lemke, said:

"The respondent alleges that the summons, petition, affidavit and request to Attorney-General for permission to bring action were not served upon the respondent until 11:45 o'clock Bismarck time on the 1st day of March, 1924, in the forenoon of said day; and that the time for hearing said petition was not for 11 o'clock Mandan time on the said 1st day of March 1924, before the Honorable Frank T. Lemke, judge of the district court of the Sixth Judicial District; that there is a difference of one hour in time between Mandan time and Bismarck time, in that when it is 11:00 o'clock Mandan time it is 12:00 o'clock Bismarck time; that no opportunity was given to said respondent, or his attorneys for the examination of the nature and the preparation of return, or for any appearance and that it was after 11:00 o'clock Mandan time, and after 12 o'clock Bismarck time before attorneys for respondent had completed examining the papers and observing that the hearing was set for 11:00 o'clock."

It is asserted that R. A. Kinzer did not include in his petition before Judge Lemke a copy of the telegram of LaFollette asking his name be withdrawn from the primary.

San Jose, Costa Rica, Mar. 4.—(By the A. P.)—A series of earth shocks, the strongest felt here in 25 years, beginning at 4 o'clock this morning, demolished fully half the buildings of San Jose and caused a number of casualties.

LASTS THREE HOURS

New York, Mar. 4.—Earthquake shook Port Limon and San Jose, Costa Rica, early today, said a message received here by the All-America Cables. The first quake occurred at about 5 a. m. and was followed by others. The tremors were continuing at 8 o'clock. Many buildings in San Jose were damaged.

A part of the American legation building collapsed but the American minister and his family and the family of the American consul escaped uninjured.

HIRAM JOHNSON SUPPORTERS SEE TRICK AGAINST HIM IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., Mar. 4.—Secretary of State Charles Deland today ordered the names of Hiram Johnson, Saginaw county farmer, and Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, stricken from the list of certified candidates for the Republican presidential nomination in the Michigan preferential primary.

Saginaw, Mich., Mar. 4.—Belief that "Zilwaukee Hiram" Johnson is a myth intended to throw the Michigan presidential preference primary election of April 7 into confusion is growing here as newspaper men after searching since Saturday report false in their efforts to find him. Johnson's name was certified for a place on the Republican presidential ballot on Friday when petitions were filed with the Secretary of State at Lansing.

Neither of the two rural mail carriers who deliver all the mail that goes into Zilwaukee township knows Hiram Johnson. Long-time residents of the community say they know of no one there of that name.

Sagittar Hiram Johnson of California, an avowed presidential candidate in the Michigan election, will open a short speaking tour in the state at Grand Rapids tonight.

NEGRO IS HELD AFTER KILLING RANCH OWNER

Former Cook for Roosevelt in Bad Lands Is Being Held
At His Ranch

CORONERS JURY VERDICT

Dickinson, N. D., Mar. 4.—John Tyler, negro who on Saturday killed Ike Gregg during an altercation at the Tyler ranch in the heart of the Bad Lands, is being held at his home in charge of a deputy sheriff until he can be taken back to Amidon, N. D., the county seat. It is probable that the charge of first degree murder will be lodged against him, county officials said.

High water in the Little Missouri river handicapped prompt action of the officials as the prisoner must be transferred via Medora 25 miles north of the Tyler ranch to Amidon. The verdict of the coroner's jury returned this morning stated that Ike Gregg met death at the hands of Tyler without felonious intent. Tyler was said to have struck Gregg across the head with the butt of his revolver and that Gregg broke his neck in a fall to the floor.

The men quarreled, witnesses state, over payment of a check. Neither was intoxicated as had been reported, however, they state.

Tyler is an early pioneer of this section, coming as a ranch cook for former President Theodore Roosevelt in 1886.

A brother of Gregg's is expected to arrive here today from Elgin, Illinois, to take charge of the body.

DEMOCRATS TO LEAVE M'ADOO IN N. D. FIGHT?

Woolledge-Minot Group Which
Endorsed Him in Convention
Failed to File For Him

DEMOCRATSCRAP LIVELY

Woolledge Assails Valley City Conference as Linked with State Administration

Failure of the "Woolledge Democrats" to file petitions placing William G. McAdoo on the ballot in the North Dakota presidential primary of March 18 after he had been endorsed is regarded here as the first setback openly administered to the McAdoo candidacy in North Dakota. McAdoo, however, will go on the ballot, being filed by the Democrats who met at Valley City and declared Woolledge ousted as state chairman.

The first boom launched for McAdoo in the state was in Minot where the Northwestern North Dakota Democratic club was organized by Woolledge and others and indorsement given McAdoo. The state conference called at Minot recently by Woolledge in answer to the Valley City meeting also indorsed McAdoo, and surprise was occasioned here when McAdoo's name was not placed on the primary ballot by the so-called Minot faction of Democrats.

No announcement that the Minot faction has deserted McAdoo has been made, although the failure to file petitions is regarded in political circles as significant. Railroad employees in the state, it is said, are still behind McAdoo regardless of publicity he has received.

ASSAILS OPPONENTS

Galus M. Woolledge of Minot—chairman of the Democratic state committee or ex-chairman, according to one's view—has issued a statement attacking S. J. Doyle, R. B. Murphy, W. E. Byerly. He assails the Valley City conference which announced he was dropped. He says: "There he (J. Doyle) brought out R. B. Murphy for national committeeman. Mr. Doyle is a colonel on the staff of our Republican Governor and Mr. Murphy holds probably the highest appointive office in the state administration. Unless R. B. Murphy resigns his state office he will be one of the campaign managers in the fall campaign of our Republican state administration, and at the same time he seeks to be Democratic national committeeman for four years, and as such would have charge of the Democratic national campaign in this state this year, and again in 1928, when a U. S. Senator is to be elected."

ENDORSE MURPHY

Langdon, N. D., Feb. 29.—The Democratic County Central committee of Cavalier county held a meeting in the court room at the court house here Thursday, at which time the following resolutions were drawn up and adopted says a Langdon dispatch.

"We, the Democratic Central committee of Cavalier county, North Dakota in convention assembled on this 28th day of February, 1924, do hereby pledge our allegiance to the principles laid down by Jefferson and other democratic leaders in the past.

"We recommend tax reduction along all lines in the nation, state, county, school and municipalities, wherever possible, without interfering with necessary operating expenses of the government.

"We recommend the adoption of the nonparty election laws, as it gives a man a chance of election regardless of party lines.

"We especially commend the Democratic voters of Cavalier county the candidacy of R. B. Murphy, for the office of national committeeman, and the election of the electors and delegates to the national convention held at the meeting of the state central committee at its meeting at Valley City."

"Signed by the Committee on Resolutions."

DAUGHERTY'S PROBERS PLAN THEIR SESSION

Senator Wheeler of Montana
Named Official Prosecutor
of Attorney-General

HEAR DAUGHERTY PLEA

Lawyers For Attorney-General to Get Limited Right
For Conducting Inquiry

Washington, Mar. 4.—(By the A. P.)—Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, has been made the unofficial "prosecutor" in the investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty, having been assigned the task of determining the date and procedure of opening the inquiry at the first session yesterday of the special investigating committee.

Because of the quantities of papers dealing with the question having accumulated since introduction of the investigation resolution Senator Wheeler, its sponsor, is not expected to start the inquiry before next week. The committee held its first preliminary session yesterday and its meeting was described as entirely harmonious by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, the chairman.

The committee took up the request of Mr. Daugherty's personal counsel—Paul Howland and former Senator Chamberlain of Oregon—for various privileges and decided not to grant unlimited right of cross-examination nor for calling independent witnesses holding. Mr. Brookhart announced, "that these questions should be kept under control." Cross-examination within certain limits will be permitted, however, and the committee will consider requests that it issue subpoenas for witnesses or documents wanted by the Attorney-General's counsel.

SENDS NO MESSAGE

Miami, Fla., Mar. 4.—Attorney-General Daugherty early today apparently had not sent a message to the White House and had not indicated whether a message might be sent. At a press conference last night he made no reference either to a receipt of a message from President Coolidge or whether he intended to communicate with the White House.

AT RACE TRACK

Washington, Mar. 4.—A story to the effect that Attorney-General Daugherty went to the race track with Harry F. Sinclair and bet money for cabinet members was told to the senate today by Senator Hefflin, Democrat, Alabama.

STUDENTS HEAR OF POLITICS

R. B. Murphy Delivers Address at High School
Today

"Politics" from a strictly nonpartisan angle was the subject of an address delivered this morning by R. B. Murphy, chairman of the board of administration, before the students of the High School.

He called attention to the apertures cast upon public service today in many quarters but declared that indifference of voters was partially responsible. Stating percentage of those actually voting in some states he declared this refusal to participate in politics was bringing about a serious condition. In some states the average vote that turned out was little more than 15 percent of the voting strength, he declared.

Official responsibility and duty to the public were too little emphasized today declared Mr. Murphy. He said more of duty in office and less clamor for "rights" would result in better public service.

The students enjoyed the address very much which was interspersed with humorous experiences and some practical examples of the workings of politics.

SHIP BOARD PROBE NEXT

Washington, Mar. 4.—A sweeping investigation of the Shipping Board was authorized today by the house.

After a brief debate a resolution was made for appointment of a special committee to conduct the inquiry.

OF ELEVEN YEARS

Van Hook, N. D., March 4.—Supt. E. W. Jernmark, for about 11 years superintendent of Fort Berthold Indian agency, has accepted an offer tendered him by the department of a like position at the Pine Ridge Indian agency of South Dakota. The Pine Ridge reservation is populated by the Sioux and has twenty-four day schools, two boarding schools, and about 7,000 Indians, which involves much larger responsibilities than the agency here. His successor has not yet been appointed.

WOULD RETURN TO CLAIM LAND

Several inquiries to purchase land taken over by the Bank of North Dakota indicates that several farmers who got loans on their land and left the state have concluded they desire to return to North Dakota and stick, according to officials of the Bank of North Dakota. Interest collections on farm loans have improved since the first of January, it is said by officials, and at least two farmers who had declined to pay any interest or principal installments on their loans have decided to keep their farms and to pay the loans.

WALSH TURNS DOWN DOHNEY OIL PROPOSAL

Montana Senator was Offered Opportunity to Enter Into Western Deal

WOULDN'T USE NAME

Senator Said it Would Not be Right to Appear in Deal
While Senator

Washington, Mar. 4.—Senator

Walsh, Democrat, Montana, chief prosecutor in the oil inquiry, refused in December to enter into any oil transactions with E. L. Dohney. "It might be 'acquiescence' on my part," Senator Walsh told Dohney but he could not appear to use his official position for profit.

Senator Walsh said the purpose of the negotiation apparently was to hamper the work of the oil committee.

Telegrams put into the record of the oil committee today showed that after Walsh had forwarded to Dohney a suggestion from a constituent as to development of the Montana oil field Dohney suggested that Walsh or his brother go to Los Angeles and consult about it.

Dohney based his suggestions on a proviso that the Montana senator or his brother was willing to "take interest" in the proposition.

Senator Walsh replied that the suggestion was "most alluring" but said he could not accept because losing negotiations with the government would be necessary.

"While I am in the official position I hold," said Walsh's reply, "it seems to me unwise for me to engage in any business dependent in any appreciable degree on government favor."

The correspondence took place before Dohney revealed that he had loaned $100,000 to A. B. Fall but after the senate inquiry into the Sinclair and Dohney leases had been begun.

In reading the messages into the record Senator Walsh said efforts had been made "to discover something that might be urged feloniously or otherwise against me."

"That end would be served," he said, "if it could be whispered about that there had been an exchange of telegrams between Dohney and myself."

DOHNEY EFFORT TO DRAW WALSH IN DEAL TOLD

Senator from Montana Replied That He Would Not Use Official Position

McLEAN SECRET AGENT

Washington Publisher Carried on Roll; Use Old Department Code, Testimony

Washington, Mar. 4.—There was another series of bomb explosions today in the oil scandal.

Here are some of the things the oil committee was told when it resumed its hearings:

That E. L. Dohney tried unsuccessfully last December to interest Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief prosecutor of the oil inquiry, in an oil venture in Montana.

That the Senator replied he would have nothing to do with an enterprise where he might appear to be using his official position for his own profit.

That Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post and a central figure in the oil inquiry, has been carried on the secret rolls of the Department of Justice as a special agent.

That McLean had a copy of the secret code and that some of the messages sent him and his employees in Florida were in a cipher once used by the department.

The testimony regarding McLean was given by W. J. Burns, chief of the department's secret agents, and Mrs. Mary Dockstein, formerly Burns' secretary. They both confirmed that McLean had been enrolled on the force of the Bureau of Investigation.

McLean was placed on the roll as a special agent because the department obtained information through him and his newspaper, the Washington Post, Burns testified. The salary was $1 a year.

"No, he hasn't resigned," Burns said when asked if McLean had given up his post as a special agent.

Burns said there were about eight, dollars a year, men in the department now.

"The last administration had 80," the witness added. The witness said that Gaston B. Means as a special agent of the Department of Justice may have through him done some work for President Harding.

McADOO ON STAND

Washington, Mar. 4.—Francis H. McAdoo, son of William G. McAdoo, was called to the witness stand today by the oil committee.

McAdoo said that in 1919 the firm of which he and his father were members was retained by E. B. McLean in relations to the will of the publisher's father, John B. McLean.

Two years later the witness said this relationship ceased. Then McLean retained him again in 1923 but not his father.

Mr. McAdoo said that McLean had wired him that A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General in the Wilson cabinet, represented A. B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair.

CONFIRMS BURNS

Washington, Mar. 4.—Mrs. Mary Dockstein, formerly secretary to William J. Burns, confirmed on the witness stand in the oil inquiry today that Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, was special agent of the Department of Justice.

HIRAM JOHNSON SUPPORTERS SEE TRICK AGAINST HIM IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., Mar. 4.—Secretary of State Charles Deland today ordered the names of Hiram Johnson, Saginaw county farmer, and Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, stricken from the list of certified candidates for the Republican presidential nomination in the Michigan preferential primary.

Saginaw, Mich., Mar. 4.—Belief that "Zilwaukee Hiram" Johnson is a myth invented to throw the Michigan presidential preference primary election of April 7 into confusion is growing here as newspaper men after searching since Saturday report failed in their efforts to find him. Johnson's name was certified for a place on the Republican presidential ballot on Friday when petitions were filed with the Secretary of State at Lansing.

Neither of the two rural mail carriers who deliver all the mail that goes into Zilwaukee township knows Hiram Johnson. Long-time residents of the community say they know of no one there of that name.

Sagittar Hiram Johnson of California, an avowed presidential candidate in the Michigan election, will open a short speaking tour in the state at Grand Rapids tonight.

NEGRO IS HELD AFTER KILLING RANCH OWNER

Former Cook for Roosevelt in Bad Lands Is Being Held At His Ranch

CORONERS JURY VERDICT

Dickinson, N. D., Mar. 4.—John Tyler, negro who on Saturday killed Ike Gregg during an altercation at the Tyler ranch in the heart of the Bad Lands, is being held at his home in charge of a deputy sheriff until he can be taken back to Amidon, N. D., the county seat. It is probable that the charge of first degree murder will be lodged against him, county officials said.

High water in the Little Missouri river handicapped prompt action of the officials as the prisoner must be transferred via Medora 25 miles north of the Tyler ranch to Amidon.

The verdict of the coroner's jury returned this morning stated that Ike Gregg met death at the hands of Tyler without felonious intent. Tyler was said to have struck Gregg across the head with the butt of his revolver and that Gregg broke his neck in a fall to the floor.

The men quarreled, witnesses state, over payment of a check. Neither was intoxicated as had been reported, however, they state.

Tyler is an early pioneer of this section, coming as a ranch cook for former President Theodore Roosevelt in 1886.

A brother of Gregg's is expected to arrive here today from Elgin, Illinois, to take charge of the body.

Tariff Board In Disagreement

Washington, Mar. 4.—Another row in the tariff commission has held up delivery to President Coolidge of the commission's report on its wheat inquiry, completed more than a week ago.

DEMOCRATS TO LEAVE M'ADOO IN N. D. FIGHT?

Woolledge-Minot Group Which Endorsed Him in Convention Failed to File For Him

DEMOCRATSCRAP LIVELY

Woolledge Assails Valley City Conference as Linked with State Administration

Failure of the "Woolledge Democrats" to file petitions placing William G. McAdoo on the ballot in the North Dakota presidential primary of March 18 after he had been endorsed is regarded here as the first setback openly administered to the McAdoo's name, however, will go on the ballot, being filed by the Democrats who met at Valley City and declared Woolledge ousted as state chairman.

The first boom launched for McAdoo in the state was in Minot where the Northwestern North Dakota Democratic club was organized by Woolledge and others and in subsequent giving McAdoo the state conference called at Minot recently by Woolledge in answer to the Valley City meeting also endorsed McAdoo, and surprise was occasioned here when McAdoo's name was not placed on the primary ballot by the so-called Minot faction has deserted McAdoo.

No announcement that the Minot faction has deserted McAdoo has been made, although the failure to file petitions is regarded in political circles as significant. Railroad employees in the state, it is said, are still behind McAdoo regardless of publicity he has received.

ASSAULTS OPPONENTS

Gaius M. Woolledge of Minot—chairman of the Democratic state committee and ex-chairman, according to one's view—has issued a statement attacking S. J. Doyle, R. B. Murphy, W. E. Byerly. He assails the Valley City conference which announced he was deposed. He says: "There he (S. J. Doyle) brought out R. B. Murphy for national committeeman. Mr. Doyle is a colonel on the staff of our Republican Governor and as such holds probably the highest appointive office in the state administration. Unless R. B. Murphy resigns his state office he will be one of the campaign managers in the fall campaign of our Republican state administration, and at the same time he seeks to be Democratic national committeeman for four years, and as such would have charge of the Democratic national campaign in this state this year, and again in 1926, when a U. S. Senator is to be elected."

ENDORSE MURPHY

Langdon, N. D., Feb. 29.—The Democratic County Central committee of Cavalier county held a meeting in the court room at the court house here Thursday, at which time the following resolutions were drawn up and adopted says a Langdon dispatch.

"We, the Democratic Central committee of Cavalier county, North Dakota in convention assembled on this 28th day of February, 1924, do hereby pledge our allegiance to the principles laid down by Jefferson and our democratic leaders in the past.

"We recommend tax reduction along all lines in the nation, state, county, school and municipalities, wherever possible, without interfering with necessary operating expenses of the government.

"We recommend the adoption of the non-party election laws, as it gives a man a chance of election regardless of party lines.

"We especially commend the Democratic voters of Cavalier county the candidacy of R. B. Murphy, for the office of national committeeman, and the election of the electors and delegates to the national convention selected at the meeting of the state central committee at its meeting at Valley City."

"Signed by the Committee on Resolutions."

DAUGHERTY'S PROBES PLAN THEIR SESSION

Senator Wheeler of Montana Named Official Prosecutor of Attorney-General

HEAR DAUGHERTY PLEA

Lawyers For Attorney-General to Get Limited Right For Conducting Inquiry

Washington, Mar. 4.—(By the A. P.)—Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, has been made the unofficial "prosecutor" in the investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty, having been assigned the task of determining the date and procedure of opening the inquiry at the first session yesterday of the special investigating committee.

Because of the quantities of papers dealing with the question having accumulated since introduction of the investigation resolution Senator Wheeler, its sponsor, is not expected to start the inquiry before next week. The committee held its first preliminary session yesterday and its meeting was described as entirely harmonious by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, the chairman.

The committee took up the request of Mr. Daugherty's personal counsel—Paul Howland and former Senator Chamberlain of Oregon—for various privileges and decided not to grant unlimited right of cross-examination nor for calling independent witnesses holding Mr. Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, the chairman.

SENDS NO MESSAGE

Miami, Fla., Mar. 4.—Attorney-General Daugherty early today apparently had not sent a message to the White House and had not indicated whether a message might be sent. At a press conference last night he made no reference either to a receipt of a message from President Coolidge or whether he intended to communicate with the White House.

AT RACE TRACK

Washington, Mar. 4.—A story to the effect that Attorney-General Daugherty went to the race track with Harry F. Sinclair and bet money for cabinet members was told to the senate today by Senator Hefflin, Democrat, Alabama.

STUDENTS HEAR OF POLITICS

R. B. Murphy Delivers Address at High School Today

"Politics" from a strictly nonpartisan angle was the subject of an address delivered this morning by R. B. Murphy, chairman of the board of administration, before the students of the High School.

He called attention to the aspirations cast upon public service today in many quarters but declared that indifference of voters was partially responsible. Stating percentage of those actually voting in some states he declared this refusal to participate in politics was bringing about a serious condition. In some states the average vote that turned out was little more than 15 percent of the voting strength, he declared.

Official responsibility and duty to the public were too little emphasized today declared Mr. Murphy. He said more of duty in office and less clamor for "rights" would result in better public service.

The students enjoyed the address very much which was interspersed with humorous experiences and some practical examples of the workings of politics.

SHIP BOARD PROBE NEXT

Washington, Mar. 4.—A sweeping investigation of the Shipping Board was authorized today by the house. After a brief debate a resolution was made for appointment of a special committee to conduct the inquiry.

OF ELEVEN YEARS

Van Hook, N. D., March 4.—Supt. E. W. Jermark, for about 11 years superintendent of Fort Berthold Indian agency, has accepted an offer tendered him by the department of a like position at the Pine Ridge Indian agency of South Dakota. The Pine Ridge reservation is populated by the Sioux and has twenty-four day schools, two boarding schools, and about 7,000 Indians, which involves much larger responsibilities than the agency here. His successor has not yet been appointed.

WOULD RETURN TO CLAIM LAND

Several inquiries to purchase land taken over by the Bank of North Dakota indicates that several farmers who got loans on their land and left the state have concluded they desire to return to North Dakota and stick according to officials of the Bank of North Dakota. Interest collections on farm loans have improved since the first of January, it is said by officials, and at least two farmers who had declined to pay any interest or principal installments on their loans, have decided to keep their farms and to pay the loans.

WALSH TURNS DOWN DOHNEY OIL PROPOSAL

Montana Senator was Offered Opportunity to Enter Into Western Deal

WOULDN'T USE NAME

Senator Said it Would Not be Right to Appear in Deal While Senator

Washington, Mar. 4.—Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, chief prosecutor in the oil inquiry, refused in December to enter into any oil transactions with E. L. Dohney. "It might be 'squeamishness' on my part," Senator Walsh told Dohney but he could not appear to use his official position for profit.

Senator Walsh said the purpose of the negotiation apparently was to hamper the work of the oil committee. Telegrams put into the record of the oil committee today showed that after Walsh had forwarded to Dohney a suggestion from a constituent as to development of the Montana oil field Dohney suggested that Walsh or his brother go to Los Angeles and consult about it.

Dohney based his suggestions on a proviso that the Montana senator or his brother was willing to "take interest" in the proposition.

Senator Walsh replied that the suggestion was "most alluring" but said he could not accept because leaving negotiations with the government would be necessary.

"While I am in the official position I hold," said Walsh's reply, "it seems to me unwise for me to engage in any business dependent in any appreciable degree on government favor."

The correspondence took place before Dohney revealed he had loaned $100,000 to A. B. Fall but after the senate inquiry into the Sinclair and Dohney leases had been begun.

In reading the messages into the record Senator Walsh said efforts had been made "to discover something that might be used feloniously or otherwise against me."

"That end would be served," he said, "if it could be whispered about that there had been an exchange of telegrams between Dohney and myself."

Any musicians interested are asked to attend the meeting.

DOHNEY EFFORT TO DRAW WALSH IN DEAL TOLD

Senator from Montana Replied That He Would Not Use Official Position

McLEAN SECRET AGENT

Washington Publisher Carried on Rolls; Use Old Department Code, Testimony

Washington, Mar. 4.—There was another series of bomb explosions today in the oil scandal.

Here are some of the things the oil committee was told when it resumed its hearings:

That E. L. Dohney tried unsuccessfully last December to interest Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief prosecutor of the oil inquiry, in an oil venture in Montana.

That the Senator replied he would have nothing to do with an enterprise where he might appear to be using his official position for his own profit.

That Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post and a central figure in the oil inquiry, has been carried on the secret rolls of the Department of Justice as a special agent.

That McLean had a copy of the secret code and that some of the messages sent him and his employees in Florida were in a cipher once used by the department.

The testimony regarding McLean was given by W. J. Burns, chief of the department's secret agents, and Mrs. Mary Dockstein, formerly Burns' secretary. They both confirmed that McLean had been enrolled on the force of the Bureau of Investigation.

McLean was placed on the roll as a special agent because the department obtained information through him and his newspaper, the Washington Post, Burns testified. The salary was $1 a year.

"No, he hasn't resigned," Burns said when asked if McLean had given up his post as a special agent.

Burns said there were about eight dollars a year, men in the department now.

"The last administration had 30," the witness added. The witness said that Gaston B. Means as a special agent of the Department of Justice may have through him done some work for President Harding.

McADOO ON STAND

Washington, Mar. 4.—Francis H. McAdoo, son of William G. McAdoo, was called to the witness stand today by the oil committee.

McAdoo said that in 1919 the firm of which he and his father were members was retained by E. B. McLean in relations to the will of the publisher's father, John B. McLean.

Two years later the witness said this relationship ceased. Then McLean retained him again in 1923 but not his father.

Mr. McAdoo said that McLean had wired him that A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General in the Wilson cabinet, represented A. B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair.

CONFIRMS BURNS

Washington, Mar. 4.—Mrs. Mary Dockstein, formerly secretary to William J. Burns, confirmed to the witness stand in the oil inquiry today that Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, was special agent of the Department of Justice.

ADVANTAGE IN TURKEY 'CROP' IS HELD GREAT

Quick Turnover and Cheap Investment Necessary, Are Determining Factors

WHAT VISITOR FOUND

Editors note:—This is the third and last of a series of articles on turkey raising in North Dakota.

One of the advantages about raising turkeys in North Dakota, says Mr. J. J. MacLeod, is that the farmer who is going to get away from the single crop system is not involved in a large investment. Another advantage is that the results are very satisfactory in many instances. Even small flocks pay the cost of the turkey and the grocery bills of the family.

I like to raise turkeys, said Mr. J. J. MacLeod, because I know when I get to work in the spring that I will have a return on my investment within a year at the most. Many other side benefits are considerable expenditures for building, equipment, etc., but these are not necessary.

There are certain things which turkey producers have to combat in every state. In some localities the most serious menace is the foxing animal. Elsewhere it may be poultry disease. Many farmers in North Dakota are clearing neat profits in "picks of both."

Neighbors and too many of them do not always go well with extensive turkey raising and North Dakota farmers, for the most part, do not have this situation to contend with, which gives them an additional advantage.

Three Years Experience

All these points are illustrated by the experience of J. J. MacLeod, of Rugby, N. D., during the last three years.

In 1921, Mr. MacLeod began his turkey flock from a nucleus of two hens and one tom. In 1922 he raised 100 turkeys, sold $1,000 worth and has over 100 birds left.

The first year he raised 50 turkeys and 150 the second year. Out of his 1923 flock he retained 1,000 turkeys which he expects to produce 1,000 turkeys in 1924 and he still has 36 fowls to sell.

Last year the net proceeds from other products on his 320-acre farm could not begin to compare with his income from the turkey flock, said Mr. MacLeod.

Careful Packing Pays

Part of the results obtained by Mr. MacLeod have been due to his method of dressing, packing and shipping. He ships in boxes, 12 fowls to the box. The boxes he makes in two sizes out of half-inch boards. A size 14 by 14 by 20 inches is required to properly hold a dozen 12-pound birds and for birds which average 16 pounds, a size 16 by 16 by 26 inches is required.

Each box is carefully lined with heavy wrapping paper and the fowls are packed into the boxes in two tiers of six birds each. The heads are neatly wrapped in paper napkins and care is taken to see that every fowl is free from bruises and otherwise in good condition when packed. A card bearing the name of the producer, the number of fowls and the average weight of each is enclosed in each box.

While Delaware and Maryland turkeys were selling on the market for 15 to 20 cents per pound, Mr. MacLeod received 15 cents and he ascribes the better price largely to his method of shipping. One dozen fowls, which he shipped brought a net price of $12.50 more apiece on the New York market than could have been obtained on the Chicago market, where the dealers indicated that North Dakota turkey growers can sell profitably on the New York market in spite of the distance.

To raise 1,000 turkeys this year, Mr. MacLeod has leased a 320-acre place adjoining his farm. In doing this he has eliminated the possibility of having very close neighbors and his flock will have a wide range without any trouble.

Turkeys and Wheat

It has been the experience of Alfred Malmberg of route 1, Crookston, Minn., that a good turkey almost equals an acre of wheat for net profit. He expressed this opinion to a Northern Pacific writer.

The Malmberg farm is 320 acres and the principal crops in the past have been wheat and corn. Some dairying has been done and this in connection with turkey and poultry raising comprises part of the diversification program.

Only a few of the turkeys produced are sold on the market. The bulk of the flock is sold for breeding. Toms bring prices ranging from $15 to $25 while hens for a minimum of $10. Just now, Mr. Malmberg said, the demand for breeding stock throughout the Northwest is very heavy and he is experiencing no difficulty in making ready sales.

"Scrub cockerels would probably reach a weight of around 15 pounds at Thanksgiving," he said. "Well bred birds with proper care frequently weigh as high as 30 pounds by Thanksgiving and attain at least 20 pounds. The extra pound in weight secured through good breeding is the difference between producing turkeys at a loss and producing them at a very satisfactory profit."

STORY OF BISMARCK BOYS' ACCOMPLISHMENTS IS TOLD BY DIRECTOR MACLEOD; TRAINED TO BE UPSTANDING LEADERS

"Around The Calendar With The Bismarck Boys" Describes Varied Activities in the Program of Work Being Carried on Here—Educational, Vocational Talks, Physical Activities Among the Many Means Used by Director.

By J. J. MacLeod, Director of Boys' Work Bismarck, N. D.

The boys now in their teens are soon to be the men upon whose shoulders the burden of the nation's future will rest. As they are moulded today so will the nation be created tomorrow. They are in that plastic stage where any set of ideals presented to them strongly and attractively will capture them and be served by them for all their future.

Our boys and girls are turned over to the school or the church in the hope that these institutions will do credit in making good citizens out of them. The greatest influence is not the school or the church or the home. When we think of the boys eleven to twenty years of age the most effective influence upon these young minds is the gang or the street. A boy could be made into a man out of the part of him that his parents and teachers are trying to throw away. The only place where the boy can learn the brotherhood of man is in the school of the gang.

The importance, therefore, of gang direction or the direction of the spare time activities is very apparent. If you crush the fighting instinct, you get the coward; if you let it grow wild, you get the bully; if you train it, you have the strong, self-controlled man of will. You have not a really safe citizen until there comes into the boy, heart the desire to do right because it is right. He may be afraid of a jail, but he is not afraid to do wrong. He will not let his father's truth if he is going to get a licking. We shall not get strong boys until we get those who have a conscience. Conscience comes through training of the heart rather than the head. Conscience is a moral director without it character is impossible, and character is the greatest need for it means that the pure in heart shall see and know and act the truth.

Interest Physical

Ninety-five per cent of a boy's interests are physical. His spare time activities must appeal to him or he will not present himself. He has to go to school and sometimes he has to go to church, but he does not have to partake of the leisure time program unless he is so disposed.

Of the 645 boys attending our schools who are between the ages of nine and twenty years, 470, or seventy-two per cent, participate twice a week in our program for boys. Eighty-eight per cent of the boys attending the grade schools participate and 291 girls.

St. Mary's Catholic School is included and receives her share of the attention with the rest. Last year at St. Mary's Catholic school we met with their boys only—this year both boys and girls have classes in Physical Training and Games. Sixty Macleod declares "this work is not only good in itself but that it improves conduct, and enables the students to do better work. We think the work is wonderful and our boys and girls are delighted with it."

The program includes: Education, physical and vocational talks by business and professional men, practice of parliamentary procedure in groups, discussions of Life Questions of School Boys, camping, swimming, Life Saving, Hiking, Football, Baseball, Soccer, Basketball, Hockey, Physical Training and Athletics. The Bismarck Boys Athletic Association, for the Little Big Four, as we call it, includes the Wm. Moore, Richholt, St. Mary's grade schools and the High School Freshmen. Each school is represented in the Association by a Committee of three. One stipulation of this organization is that a boy who uses tobacco cannot represent his school, another is that if a boy's work and conduct is not satisfactory to his teacher he is ineligible for school competition.

Our boys are divided into the following age groups: Young Corners, boys nine to eleven years of age; Pioneers, boys twelve to fourteen years of age; and High Y, boys fifteen years and over. The Young Corners meet every Saturday morning at 9:00 for physical training and games. The Pioneers meet one night a week where business and professional men speak to the boys, then in groups they assemble for discussion and games. The High Y club meet once a week to hear educational and vocational talks by business men and for a discussion of Life Questions of High School Boys. These boys also meet Saturday afternoon for Athletics and games.

Skating

Last winter the Elks made possible a skating rink at the Wm. Moore school and the boys got their first taste of Hockey. This year the number secured by the Elks will be used at the St. Mary's school rink. Owing to the weather men mistaking North Dakota for Florida or South California, we have been unable to skate until the New Year.

Young Statesmen

During the session of the Legislature the Wacker Tonders paid a visit to the Capitol. There are fifteen in this group and each came away with a different impression regarding how members attend to the affairs of the State.

Baseball

In Basketball we had twenty-three teams playing league games, 423 boys participating. The Basketball honors last season went to the St. Mary's school. This school is now the custodian of the P. A. Knowles Shield, emblematic of the City Championship.

Father and Son Banquets

At the Father and Son Banquet 515 Dads and Lads had a very happy

BOY'S CAMP SCENE

Under direction of J. J. MacLeod last summer—one of many features of outdoor activities.

evening together. Here the Dad came out from behind his parental mask and was a kid beside his own boy; together they sang songs, laughed over jokes and stories—both hearts were moved to a better understanding as they listened to the speakers.

Boys' Secretary, MacLeod, was invited out to Father and Son banquets at Garrison, Steele and Wilton, and several visits were paid to McKenzie.

Athletic Meet

In the Athletic Meet last May, 225 boys competed in four events making nine hundred entries in the Meet. Each boy received points for his best performance in each event, this meant a tremendous amount of work as they assisted in carrying out the Meet last year well known. The Meet required fifty Officials. There was no individual prize, each boy worked for the honor of his school. Only three boys of the total school enrollment eligible to compete failed to do so.

The Wm. Moore boys made the highest individual score thereby winning the beautiful Trophy presented by the Elks Lodge. This Trophy was won by the Richholt boys last year and becomes the property of the school winning it three times in succession.

Camp

Eighty boys attended our Camp and Camp Outings. Two camps were held at Lake Isabel where Rotarians were good enough to drive the boys, thereby cutting their camp expenses in half. The canoes loaned by George Will, Bursen Ward and Mr. Warren Dawson, contributed in a very large way to the enjoyment of the Campers. The Camp program is one of instruction, and is self disciplinarian. The boys are divided into organized tribes. These tribes compete in Athletics, Baseball, Swimming, Boating, Bird Observation, Stargazing, Cooking and Serving and Tent Inspection. From the 6:30 Setting-up exercises before the morning dip and Bible Study to the Campfire song and story is one round of directed activities.

Swimming

At the swimming pool classes were conducted on alternate days for boys and girls who wished to learn how to swim and every morning for women and three evenings a week for business women and men. 210 learned to swim and 15 took the Life Saving classes. On alternate afternoons contests were held for boys and girls in diving and swimming, 30 to 50 would participate in these events.

Play Grounds

The Women's Council was assisted in organizing a Play Ground, class No. 40, women and girls enrolled and with eight young men manned the three play grounds last summer. Assistance was given at six school picnics and two Sunday School Picnics.

Football

The past fall proved to be a splendid one for outdoor activities. We had eleven Football teams, 160 players and they played fifty games. The Football honors went to the Richholt boys for the second year in succession.

On Christmas Day a very interesting Football game was played between a team from the Little Big Four and the Third High School team on which played four of the H. S. first string; however, the youngsters held the H. S. to one touch down.

Dr. Arnon examined the football players to make sure that the boys could enter into the game without developing harmful results.

Relay Race

Four teams fourteen boys to a team, fifty-six boys in all represented the school competing in relaying a message from Mandan to Bismarck. The finish of this race was very spectacular, Richholt and Wm. Moore boys ran neck and neck for two blocks, Richholt winning by inches only.

On Armistice Day 500 boys and girls carrying flags, and headed by the St. Mary's Band marched through the business section of the City to the Post Office where they formally saluted the flag—the big flag reached from the third story to the steps of the building. The whole affair was a very impressive spectacle.

Leaders Corps

Twenty-four High School boys, hand picked, comprise a Leaders Corps who meet every Saturday evening in the High School for instruction in Physical Training and Leadership.

Christmas Vacation

During the Christmas Vacation sixty boys took in the educational trips to the Telephone Company, Russell-Miller Company, Hughes Electric Company, Bismarck Dairy, Tribune Printing Company, Weather Bureau and the Bismarck Optical Company. On these trips the boys were shown the workings of the machinery and the instruments by participating men who seemed to get much pleasure in making things clear to the young inquisitive minds.

Indoor Activities

Physical Training classes are conducted twice a week for boys and girls in grades seven and eight at the Wm. Moore and Richholt and once a week at St. Mary's, Wacker and Roosevelt.

A class in physical training and games is conducted for boys in to twelve years of age every Saturday morning at the High School Gym. Classes are also held for boys twelve

LA FOLLETTE TO LAUNCH THIRD PARTY EFFORT?

This Interpretation Placed Upon His Announcement on North Dakota

LAYS FOUNDATION

Did Robert M. LaFollette's statement explaining why he withdrew from the North Dakota presidential primary mean that he is really planning to start a third party movement?

The interpretation is favored by George E. Akerson, political writer of the Minneapolis Tribune, in a special Washington dispatch. He says:

The first direct intimation from Senator Robert M. LaFollette himself that he may be willing to head a third party ticket in the coming presidential campaign is contained in a telegram he has just sent to North Dakota.

The Wisconsin senator withdraws his name from the presidential primary ballot in North Dakota and at the same time lays the foundation for his expected attack upon what the Republican national convention at Cleveland in June will do.

"I have no illusions about the Cleveland convention," he says in the telegram to C. Olson, chairman of the LaFollette campaign committee in North Dakota. "The steam roller will be operated there by the same forces that controlled it in 1912 and other years. The arbitrary increase of the unrepresentative southern delegations is sufficient proof of this."

To Offer Platform at Cleveland

Some time ago information came to the effect that Senator LaFollette had decided not to enter the primary contests in any of the states, preferring to have only the Wisconsin delegation fight for his platform in the national convention. It was then hinted that he intended to file as an independent candidate for president in certain states in the upper Mississippi valley, hoping to carry them and thereby prevent the Republican and Democratic nominees from getting a majority of the votes in the electoral college. That would be the election of the next president into the House of Representatives and, if that body could not select, into the Senate.

In his telegram to North Dakota, Senator LaFollette outlines the program which his Wisconsin adherents will follow. He says he will send "a strong progressive delegation to Cleveland to fight for fundamental principles." It is known that through this delegation LaFollette will present his platform to the people. He expects that it will be turned down. That will leave him free, after the convention or to have lists of independent electors filed for him in certain states.

KINGS, QUEENS USING WILLYS OVER ATLANTIC

The Willys-Knight is accustomed to blue-blooded passengers. The King of Spain, the King of Belgium, and the Prince of Wales, among others, have felt the supreme satisfaction of riding behind the world's quietest motor.

Now it has on its long list of honorable friends, Kathryn Campbell, one two year old American's most beautiful girl at the annual mid-summer Atlantic City pageant. Miss Campbell, who in this beauty contest bears the name de plume of "Miss Columbus" has twice chosen a white-painted Willys-Knight touring car, placed at her service by the Seacoast Automobile Company of Atlantic City, as her official car in the annual beauty parade which terminated with her selection as the reigning beauty.

During the past fall the queen of the Columbia Valley Harvest Regatta was also the choice of Willys-Knight touring car as her throne for this event, selecting the car from a huge field of competitors. This pageant took place in Lewiston, Idaho.

And not so very long before Queen Lucy Lee, of the Portland, Oregon, Rose Festival, and Prime Minister Bortmeyer, who manages this remarkable celebration annually, enjoyed the parade in their specially-decorated Willys-Knight.

Following the Festival the Elks held their state convention in Portland and the queen was once more in evidence with the newly-exalted state as the distinguished passenger. When the late President Harding was in Portland, Governor Pierce met his Chief Executive in Gresham, Oregon, after making the trip in this particular car.

LEAGUERS IN MINNESOTA IN LACK OF ACCORD

St. Paul, Mar. 3.—Lack of unity was the outstanding feature of Nonpartisan league state conventions, held in Minneapolis Saturday to select candidates to the state convention in Minneapolis March 13, according to incomplete returns received here Saturday night.

One Nonpartisan convention denounced the Farmer-Labor party; others elected their delegates to the Farmer-Labor party state convention rather than the league convention and still others voted for delegates to the league convention.

The Chippewa county Nonpartisans adopted in a debate which resulted in adoption of a motion that no delegate be sent to the state convention who was associated with the Farmer-Labor federation.

Conventions in Becker, Mower and Pennington counties elected delegates to the Farmer-Labor state convention. In Clay county the Nonpartisans did not meet, but the Com-

Aberdeen, S. D., Mar. 3.—President Calvin Coolidge received a majority of 377 votes over the totals cast for Senator Hiram Johnson and William Gibbs McAdoo in the straw vote conducted by the American News of Aberdeen, S. D. The soldiers' bonus, the livestock loan bill, McNary-Haugen bill, higher wheat tariff, and continued alcoholic aridity were measures endorsed.

The votes were:

For President—Coolidge, 1,485; Johnson, 933; McAdoo, 115.

LAID VOTED TO FIGHT FIRE

Financial aid to the extent of $1,000, and pumping and other equipment of the state highway commission for use in fighting the fire raging in the Haynes Coal company mine property at Haynes, N. D., was voted Saturday by the state emergency commission and state highway commission officials. Because Governor Nestos was unable to attend the meeting of the emergency committee, that committee did not take final action on the request of the state coal mine inspector for $5,000 appropriation to fight the fire.

LA FOLLETTE TO LAUNCH THIRD PARTY EFFORT?

This Interpretation Placed Upon His Announcement on North Dakota

LAYS FOUNDATION

Did Robert M. LaFollette's statement explaining why he withdrew from the North Dakota presidential primary mean that he is really planning to start a third party movement?

The interpretation is favored by George E. Akerson, political writer of the Minneapolis Tribune, in a special Washington dispatch. He says:

The first direct intimation from Senator Robert M. LaFollette himself that he may be willing to head a third party ticket in the coming presidential campaign is contained in a telegram he has just sent to North Dakota.

The Wisconsin senator withdraws his name from the presidential primary ballot in North Dakota and at the same time lays the foundation for his expected attack upon what the Republican national convention at Cleveland in June will do.

"I have no illusions about the Cleveland convention," he says in the telegram to C. Olson, chairman of the LaFollette campaign committee in North Dakota. "The steam roller will be operated there by the same forces that controlled it in 1912 and other years. The arbitrary increase of the unrepresentative southern delegations is sufficient proof of this."

To Offer Platform at Cleveland

Some time ago information came to the effect that Senator LaFollette had decided not to enter the primary contests in any of the states, preferring to have only the Wisconsin delegation fight for his platform in the national convention. It was then hinted that he intended to file as an independent candidate for president in certain states in the upper Mississippi valley, hoping to carry them and thereby prevent the Republican and Democratic nominees from getting a majority of the votes in the electoral college. That would be the election of the next president into the House of Representatives and, if that body could not select, into the Senate.

In his telegram to North Dakota, Senator LaFollette outlines the program which his Wisconsin adherents will follow. He says he will send "a strong progressive delegation to Cleveland to fight for fundamental principles." It is known that through this delegation LaFollette will present his platform to the people. He expects that it will be turned down. That will leave him free, after the convention or to have lists of independent electors filed for him in certain states.

COAL RATE BOOST ASKED

Carriers Propose New Schedule From Illinois, Indiana Mines

Following decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the so-called "Illinois Coal Cases, 1920" the railroads have prepared a proposed schedule of rates on soft coal from Illinois, Indiana and Western Kentucky to all stations in 16 states, including North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana. The proposed rates apply from several hundred miles in Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky and are generally increases over the present rates in varying amounts, averaging about 20c per net ton.

The Railroad Commission is in touch with the situation, but suggests that anyone interested write to C. W. Galligan, Chairman, Illinois Freight Committee, Transportation Building, Chicago, Illinois, for a copy of the proposed tariff, says a statement of the commission.

Effective March 3, 1924, the rates on sugar, carloads from Billings, Montana, via the Northern Pacific and Sop Lines, to Devils Lake, Drake, Fairmount, Hankinson, Lidgerwood and Minot is reduced 6 1/2 cents per 100 lbs., or $25.00 on a minimum car of 40,000 lbs. The present rate is 74 1/2 cents per cwt. and the new rate is to be 68 cents, the commission's weekly bulletin announces, other action as follows:

Cases Docketed

Braddock Telephone Company vs. Dakota Central Telephone Company application for an order requiring the Dakota Central Telephone Company to connect a certain farm line to Hazelton Exchange.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, Fargo, North Dakota, filing of revised section of general supplemental rate schedule.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, Fargo, North Dakota, application for permission to close toll station at Petrel, North Dakota.

Pembina Light and Power Company, Pembina North Dakota, application for permission to install a limited 5 percent cash discount rule in all classes of service.

Otter Tail Power Company, Fergus Falls, Minnesota, application to build and maintain high tension transmission line between Wahpeton and Fairmount, North Dakota.

Cases Decided

The Commission permitted the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company to file effective April 1, 1924 a revised rate pertaining to discount service to employees and municipal, county, state and federal governments.

The Pembina Light and Power Company was granted permission to install a limited 5 percent cash discount rule on all classes of service.

The files in the case of Jacob Hafner et al. vs. Fargo Telephone Company were closed. The Commission was able to settle the matter without formal hearing.

The application of the Otter Tail Power Company for permission to build and maintain a High Tension Transmission line from Wahpeton to Fairmount, N. D.

The application of the Soo Line Railroad for permission to discontinue the agency at Fonda, North Dakota was denied, 2-27-24.

The Commission approved Time Schedule No. 2 cancelling Schedule No. 1 of F. M. Skold operating under Certificate No. 1 between Minot and Kenmare.

The Commission approved Time Schedule No. 1 of J. H. Richardson operating under Certificate No. 15 between Minot and Faribault.

evening together. Here the Dad came out from behind his parental mask and was a kid beside his own boy; together they sang songs, laughed over jokes and stories—both hearts were moved to a better understanding as they listened to the speakers.

Boys' Secretary, MacLeod, was invited out to Father and Son banquets at Garrison, Steele and Wilton, and several visits were paid to McKenzie.

Athletic Meet

In the Athletic Meet last May, 225 boys competed in four events making nine hundred entries in the Meet. Each boy received points for his best performance in each event, this meant a tremendous amount of work as they assisted in carrying out the Meet last year well known. The Meet required fifty Officials. There was no individual prize, each boy worked for the honor of his school. Only three boys of the total school enrollment eligible to compete failed to do so.

The Wm. Moore boys made the highest individual score thereby winning the beautiful Trophy presented by the Elks Lodge. This Trophy was won by the Richholt boys last year and becomes the property of the school winning it three times in succession.

Camp

Eighty boys attended our Camp and Camp Outings. Two camps were held at Lake Isabel where Rotarians were good enough to drive the boys, thereby cutting their camp expenses in half. The canoes loaned by George Will, Bursen Ward and Mr. Warren Dawson, contributed in a very large way to the enjoyment of the Campers. The Camp program is one of instruction, and is self disciplinarian. The boys are divided into organized tribes. These tribes compete in Athletics, Baseball, Swimming, Boating, Bird Observation, Stargazing, Cooking and Serving and Tent Inspection. From the 6:30 Setting-up exercises before the morning dip and Bible Study to the Campfire song and story is one round of directed activities.

Swimming

At the swimming pool classes were conducted on alternate days for boys and girls who wished to learn how to swim and every morning for women and three evenings a week for business women and men. 210 learned to swim and 15 took the Life Saving classes. On alternate afternoons contests were held for boys and girls in diving and swimming, 30 to 50 would participate in these events.

Play Grounds

The Women's Council was assisted in organizing a Play Ground, class No. 40, women and girls enrolled and with eight young men manned the three play grounds last summer. Assistance was given at six school picnics and two Sunday School Picnics.

Football

The past fall proved to be a splendid one for outdoor activities. We had eleven Football teams, 160 players and they played fifty games. The Football honors went to the Richholt boys for the second year in succession.

On Christmas Day a very interesting Football game was played between a team from the Little Big Four and the Third High School team on which played four of the H. S. first string; however, the youngsters held the H. S. to one touch down.

Dr. Arnon examined the football players to make sure that the boys could enter into the game without developing harmful results.

Relay Race

Four teams fourteen boys to a team, fifty-six boys in all represented the school competing in relaying a message from Mandan to Bismarck. The finish of this race was very spectacular, Richholt and Wm. Moore boys ran neck and neck for two blocks, Richholt winning by inches only.

On Armistice Day 500 boys and girls carrying flags, and headed by the St. Mary's Band marched through the business section of the City to the Post Office where they formally saluted the flag—the big flag reached from the third story to the steps of the building. The whole affair was a very impressive spectacle.

Leaders Corps

Twenty-four High School boys, hand picked, comprise a Leaders Corps who meet every Saturday evening in the High School for instruction in Physical Training and Leadership.

Christmas Vacation

During the Christmas Vacation sixty boys took in the educational trips to the Telephone Company, Russell-Miller Company, Hughes Electric Company, Bismarck Dairy, Tribune Printing Company, Weather Bureau and the Bismarck Optical Company. On these trips the boys were shown the workings of the machinery and the instruments by participating men who seemed to get much pleasure in making things clear to the young inquisitive minds.

Indoor Activities

Physical Training classes are conducted twice a week for boys and girls in grades seven and eight at the Wm. Moore and Richholt and once a week at St. Mary's, Wacker and Roosevelt.

A class in physical training and games is conducted for boys in to twelve years of age every Saturday morning at the High School Gym. Classes are also held for boys twelve

DAIRYING IN STATE MAKES BIG PROGRESS

Grand Forks Convention of Dairymen's Association Hears Reports Given

DEVINE OPTIMISTIC

Says "New Day" in Agriculture Is Here — Other Speakers on Program

Grand Forks, N. D., Mar. 4.—The "New Day" in agriculture for North Dakota does not lie ahead—it is here, declared Commissioner of Immigration J. M. Devine in an address before the North Dakota Dairymen's Association here today.

When North Dakota produced only $17,000,000 worth of creamery products in 1919 and $34,000,000 worth in 1923; when North Dakota produced but 18,000,000 bushels of corn in 1919 and 30,000,000 bushels of corn in 1923; when North Dakota had but 18,000 acres of sweet clover in 1918 and 370,000 acres in 1923; when poultry production jumped from $3,070,000 in 1918 to $10,000,000 in 1923 we know we are on the way to a bigger, better North Dakota," said Mr. Devine. "We know we are on the sure, safe and safer way."

Mr. Devine declared the remedy to bad farming conditions is "less wheat acreage, more and more diversified farming, more corn, more forage crops with something alive in the place to consume it."

"In spite of the gloom and discouragement of the present, it doesn't help any to rock the boat," said Mr. Devine. "North Dakota will weather the storm as she has all other storms. There is a brighter, better and bigger day just ahead. It is to be regretted that so much adverse and misleading advertising has gone out from North Dakota to spread broadcast in the byways and business marts of the country. No doubt, it was unintentional but just the same misleading and hurtful. It was not fair to the state, to the farmers or to the people in general. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with North Dakota in soil, climate, progress, or the great heart of the people who live in it. With 420,000 milk cows now in the state and that number increasing with equal rapidity and the quality of that corn equal to the best that Illinois or Iowa can produce, is in every way encouraging and a sure practical sign that we are on the way."

"Corn rests the land and destroys weeds; grain produces weeds and lessens fertility. Corn means successful diversification; it means less wheat acreage but more bushels produced to the acre."

When a certain acreage of sweet clover or alfalfa is found on every farm; when we have enthroned corn as king and the dairy cow as queen; when more white faces, short horns and sheep dot our farm landscape; when poultry has its place in the economy of every farm, mortgages will be lifted out—standing obligations paid and the farmer no longer a borrower but a depositor in the banks of the state, in that day and time, the North Dakota farmer can stand erect, move forward steadily, self-poised, untrammelled and unafraid. The problem that confronts us therefore, is not solely for Washington, D. C. or for the capital at Bismarck to solve. It is largely our own particular individual problem both of farm and city, and it must be settled intelligently and successfully by North Dakota brain and North Dakota brain educated and living on North Dakota soil."

Can Compete With All
"North Dakota can compete successfully with any state in the Union in butter production," declared J. R. Dice, dairy specialist at the North Dakota Agricultural college, in an address delivered before the North Dakota Dairymen's Association today.

"Few of us in this state realize how cheaply and abundantly the farmers of this state can produce feed," the dairyman said, "and it is not only feed but it is quality feed, for with sweet clover and alfalfa, which we can easily grow here, the farmer can raise his entire dairy ration."

"I know absolutely that the dairy cows will do well in all parts of the state. I know that farmers can grow feed for the dairy herd wherever they can grow any kind of a crop," Mr. Dice said. "The selling price of dairy products has been relatively higher as compared to war prices, than the price of any other products sold by the farmer for three years."

As an engineer at the Electric Light Plant, there was more or less exposure to draughts and I blame the cold I took for starting the trouble. My kidneys didn't act regularly and when I heard about Doan's Pills being so good I began using them. One box cured me up and I have never since had a return symptom of kidney disorder."

GENERAL VIEW OF WRECKED NITRATION PLANT

Almost a score of persons were killed and many hundred injured when a terrific explosion wrecked the plant of the Nixon Nitration Works at Nixon, four miles from New Brunswick, N. J. The concussion rocked houses within a radius of many miles and was heard as far away as lower New York City and Brooklyn. Photo shows general view of the wreckage, taken by an NEA staff photographer before the dust had settled. The explosion is believed to have started in the boiler room of the plant. All that remains of the boiler room is shown in foreground of picture.

AMBULANCES CALLED FOR INJURED

Ambulances from Nixon and New Brunswick, N. J., were rushed to the wrecked plant of the Nixon Nitration Works following the heavy explosion which took a toll of many lives. Photo shows one of them about to leave with the last of the injured. About 150 men and women were at work in the plant at the time, all of them lined up for the Saturday payroll.

years. Price for butter, for instance, in 1923 averaged about 15 per cent higher than 1922 prices.

High price dairy products have naturally increased production, as every farmer that has had any kind of a cow has milked her, but consumption has also increased. Consumption of butter has increased 11 per cent during the past two years, consumption of milk has increased 16 per cent in the same time and ice cream has increased 25 per cent. Increase in consumption is apt to continue as long as employment conditions remain good, according to Mr. Dice.

The American people are using more dairy products, he said. They are learning that it is an essential food, and that even with the current prices, it is an economical food to buy. The limit in consumption has not yet been reached, he declared.

as the average person in the United States consumes 16.5 pounds of butter during a year, while in California the average consumption is 23 pounds of butter per person.

In stressing the advantages of dairying in North Dakota, Mr. Dice mentioned that North Dakota is so situated that its farmers do not need to worry about transportation costs. The freight on a pound of butter to the eastern seaboard is about four per cent of the selling price of butter, while the freight on wheat amounts to 30 per cent of the selling price.

"It is the little things that count of the dairy farm, as well as in the dairy industry," stated the dairyman. The three or four things that we must most emphasize during the next few years in order to get started right are raising home-grown feed, care and feeding of the cows, the securing of better quality herds and putting out quality dairy products.

Well on Way
"North Dakota with her 533,000 dairy cows is well started on the milky way. Only one state, to the west of us has more dairy cows than we have, and we are rapidly gaining on that state. North Dakota now has more dairy cows than the two states of Washington and Oregon, and each of these states is boasting of their dairy industry."

Urges Sugar Beets
Because we inherited a great mass of mineral matter in the shape of fertility of our soil is no reason why we should pay Europe for hauling it away, said Charles H. Allen, president of the Farmers Sugar Co., Defiance, Ohio, in an address before the North Dakota Dairymen's Association here today. He complimented the dairy industry on its growth in sections previously devoted almost entirely to wheat, declaring production of milk, butter, eggs, bacon, wool, cotton, sugar and other crops that take little mineral matter from the soil to be the only salvation for the American farmer.

While the wheat farmer has appeared to make a profit the value of mineral matter in his product has made every crop, even at peak prices, an actual loss," he declared.

The speaker, who is at the head of 1,200 farmers who are building their own sugar factory at Defiance, Ohio, pointed out that much of the wheat country in North Dakota is well adapted to sugar beets, which he said were especially needed because beet pulp has been found excellent dairy feed.

CALIFORNIA MAY HAVE QUAKES

Santa Clara, Cal., March 3.—Earthquakes not only will be predicted in the future, but actually have been forecast in the past, said Father Jerome S. Ricard, S. J., director of the University of Santa Clara observatory, in answer to an assertion made in Washington recently by Dr. Thomas A. Jager, Jr., government scientist, that continued study of seismological data will enable scientists to send out warnings of the approach of tremors.

Father Ricard, noted as a weather prophet, is known as "the Padre of the Rains" and his theory of the relation of sun-spots to the weather has attracted wide attention.

"Earthquakes," he contended, "were first predicted by Marchand, a Frenchman, 25 years ago, by means of sunspots. Unfortunately he died without perfecting his system, and as usual his idea was greatly ridiculed."

"We took up the same idea here at Santa Clara and tested it until 1914. Our findings were that a sun-spot crossing the central meridian, or happening in the vicinity, east or west, always synchronized with accounts of earthquakes somewhere on the globe given out by the press."

Professor Porta's death determined Father Ricard to resume the study of predicting earthquakes.

Of the attitude of the public and even of the scientific world toward the theory advanced by Marchand, the Jesuit astronomer said: "It is hard for the layman, professed physicist though he be, to see a casual nexus, or connection, between sun-spots and earthquakes, or sun-spots and weather. But this proves only the limitation of the human mind and its great ignorance, even among scientists."

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:

Your "Krummled Bran," used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in the last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.

Yours truly,
Arlington L. Carman,
Patchogue, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the

intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purges them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL Bran. Nothing but ALL Bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krummled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Of all the family, father is apt to be the most careless of a cough or cold, and it is the duty of mother or the girls to see that he takes FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND at the first sign of a cough, cold or hoarseness. After he once tries it, finds out how effective and pleasant it is to take, he will not hesitate to use it always. Contains no opiates. Safe and sure. Has served three generations.

Exercise in Hammock Helps to Reduce Weight

To exercise the parts of the body in which fat accumulates, and help users improve their physical condition, a revolving hammock has been invented.

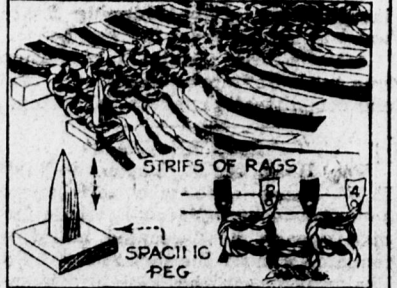

A mountain of solid rock 5,000 feet high and the same distance through the base, if placed on an immense jack, could be lifted by the force required to operate the vessels, at the rate of a foot a day. Connected to pumps, it is enough to drain Lake Michigan at such speed that the level would be reduced 10 feet a year, or it could light, heat, and furnish power to 600 towns with populations of 5,000. Were it possible to use the energy in artillery, 200 tons of shells could be shot onto the moon each day.

Simple Method of Making Rag Mats

Excellent doormats can be made at home from strips of rag or burlap. The strips must all be of the same width and twisted until they are about the thickness of a finger. The strips are tacked, about 4 in. from one end, to a length of wood, and are spaced 3/4 in. apart. The width of the mat depends on the number of strips used, which must be an even number.

After fastening the length of wood to a table or bench, the strips are ready to be woven, which is done by tying them together with "square" knots until the mat is completed. The first knot is tied with the first and second strips, the second knot with the third and fourth strips, the third knot with the fifth and sixth strips, and so on to the end. The second row of knots is begun by tying the second and third strips, then the fourth and fifth strips, and so on. The knots are all tied in the same way, and the method of doing this is plainly shown in the detail. A spacing peg must be used, so that all the knots will be of the same size; the knot is tied around the peg, which is then slipped out. The peg should be about 1 in. square and tapered to a point.

Lead-In Fits under Window

Fitting under a closed window, a flexible lead-in now on the market should prove popular with radio fans.

Steamed and frosted windows are a source of annoyance to many housewives as the moisture not only obstructs the view but also spoils the glass through the accumulation of dust when sweeping or cleaning. A cloth bag containing a few spoons of tobacco, placed in the water to wash the windows, will overcome this trouble and will also insure clear, crystal effect.

Forbade, president of the Norwegian government, who during his visit to America, was entertained at Mr. Serumgard's home here. Federal income taxes in this section thus far are considerably above last year.

This is the observation of those B. E. Hitchcock and Fred Riley in the division office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau here. Returns generally are made on a greater scale than last year.

"Nearly all of these shocks originated in the Verde Island passage fault, about 150 miles south of Manila. The frequency of these shocks and their intensity, however, indicates that the stresses in this region have been relieved and no serious danger from this rift is to be anticipated for some years to come."

"Tidal waves are likely to occur, due to submarine disturbances in rifts near the entrance to Manila Bay, but the peculiar shape of the bay, flaring out broadly from the entrance, would probably prevent such waves from having disastrous effects on the city of Manila."

Appeal to the supreme court has been taken in the case in which District Judge F. T. FLAX IMPORT TO U.S. LARGE

Not Enough Grown to Meet Domestic Needs of Nation

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—The average yearly consumption of flax in the United States amounts to nearly 20,000,000 bushels while the average production is but 11,205,000, leaving about 20 million bushels to be imported in the form of seed and oil, according to figures compiled by T. E. Stoa, assistant agronomist at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

The acreage in 1923 was nearly double that of 1922, the figures show, says Mr. Stoa. A tariff of 40 cents per bushel on flax seed and an equivalent tariff on linseed oil insures protection to the flax grower against the more cheaply produced large Argentine surplus and the smaller Canadian surplus, he explains.

Landed consumers in this country, on the basis of $1.00 per bushel, the approximate Argentine price, will pay to farmers outside of the United States, during the crop year from July 1923 to July 1924, more than 20 million dollars," Mr. Stoa declares. "All signs point to a continuing good market for flax and lends encouragement to a further increase in flax acreage and production for 1924."

Mr. Stoa emphasizes, however, the need for careful selection of the seed, as some varieties of flax are resistant to wilt and other varieties are not.

BIG TAX CUT IS PROPOSED

Experts Give Estimate of Cut Made by Revenue Bill

Washington, Mar. 4.—Treasury activities today gave it as their opinion that the tax bill, as passed by the house, will produce $400,000,000 less revenue than the existing law.

It would produce $113,000,000 more, the treasury figures indicate, than the Garner Democratic plan.

The treasury, surplus under the present rates, according to the present estimates, will be only $323,000,000 so that the house bill if finally enacted would result in a deficit of $123,000,000.

Losses in revenue under the bill as passed by the house are estimated to be $120,000,000 in normal income taxes; $120,000,000 in surtaxes; $90,000,000 in earned income and $120,000,000 in miscellaneous taxes. These same taxes as carried in the Garner plan would have resulted, according to the treasury, in losses from existing amounts of $227,000,000 in normal income taxes; $171,000,000 in surtaxes; $85,000,000 in earned income, and $120,000 in miscellaneous taxes.

S. SERUMGARD, THOUGH BLIND WON SUCCESS

Was Widely Known as Writer, Author and Translator; Active in Politics

Devils Lake, N. D., Mar. 4.—Funeral services for Siver Serumgard, 65, blind attorney, who died here Saturday, await the arrival of two sons. Siver Serumgard was born in Cudand, Norway, Dec. 12, 1858. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Siver Serumgard. The family came to America in 1868 and settled in Madelia, Minn. Siver later entered the University of Minnesota and was graduated as a lawyer in 1890.

While in the university, he was stricken totally blind, yet this handicap failed to daunt his remarkable courage, and he was graduated with honors, his fellow students assisting him with readings. While in the university, he became a charter member of the Beta Theta Phi fraternity, and later was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa which is considered an exceptional honor.

Author and Translator
Following his graduation, Mr. Serumgard came to Devils Lake and for a time was associated with L. M. McCann in the old Devils Lake News. It was during this venture that he moved his ability as a student and writer, and throughout his life he gained an enviable reputation as a translator of Norwegian literature, his work of rendering Norwegian poetry into English receiving the plaudits of students throughout the country. Severing his connection with the News, Mr. Serumgard entered the estate business with E. T. Moen, and later opened a law office in partnership with Christopher Jacobson.

During the rest of his life his time was devoted to his legal practice and to the pursuits of literature.
In 1894 he married Miss Grace Kirker of Covington, Ky., the marriage taking place at that city.

Besides his widow, he is survived by three sons and two daughters, Arthur of Missoula, Mont.; Grace of Berkeley, Cal.; Dorothy of Minneapolis, and William of Missoula, Mont.
Active in Politics
Early in life Mr. Serumgard took a deep interest in politics. At first he was a Democrat and an ardent supporter of William Jennings Bryan, having been one of the delegates to the St. Louis convention which nominated Bryan for the president as the opponent of the late President McKinley. He left the Democratic fold later, and affiliated himself with the Roosevelt wing of the Republican party. He was a delegate to the Chicago "Hull" convention which nominated Roosevelt in opposition to Charles Evans Hughes, the regular Republican presidential candidate.

Became Republican Adherent
Since that time Mr. Serumgard has adhered to the Republican political principles. At one time he was a candidate for the United States senator against the late Senator A. J. Cronin, and at the recall election he was candidate for commissioner of agriculture and labor on an independent ticket.

Among public offices which he held was that of member of the board of regents of the University of North Dakota during 1893 and 1894. He also served Ramsey county as state's attorney and was an ardent supporter of attorney for Devils Lake. He was also a member of the Devils Lake school board.

Mr. Serumgard had a national reputation through his affiliation with the Sons of Norway, and had served as president of the national grand lodge of that society and also as a member of the board of directors.

Norwegian Literature Authority
Mr. Serumgard was considered one of the northwest's greatest authorities on Norwegian literature and history. He was especially noted for his poetic translations, which have been published in most of the Norwegian English publications of the country. Some years ago he published a collection of these translations, which received favorable comments from the critics. His translations of Norwegian poetry are considered among the first of their class.

In 1909, he, in company with Mrs. Serumgard, made a trip to Norway, visiting his old home and the homes of his great writers. At that time he was presented to King Haakon VII. Dr. Gade, president of the Normands Forbundet, who, during his visit to America, was entertained at Mr. Serumgard's home here. Mr. and Mrs. Serumgard had entertained at their home a great number of national and international personages, including William Jennings Bryan, and Raoul Amundson, the Arctic explorer.

WILL TEST SEED

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—North Dakota flax growers may have their seed tested as to its wilt resistant powers provided they send the sample of flax seed in to the Pure Seed Laboratory maintained at the North Dakota Agricultural college, advises H. I. Bolley, agronomist at the college. A one-half pound sample addressed to the Pure Seed Laboratory with a request for a test on wilt resistant qualities will give after six weeks' time any North Dakota flax grower an assurance in respect to the quality of his seed and the variety, according to college officials.

Market Hardens Trifle After Opening Weaker

Chicago, Mar. 4.—Wheat trading enlarged today and September touched a new high price record for the season. Subsequently the wheat market showed a dearth of offerings and there was a steady increase of buying through commission houses. The price, hence that followed was fairly maintained.

Chicago, Mar. 4.—Wheat and oats were easier in sympathy with corn in today's early dealings. After opening at 1/4c lower to 1/8c advanced, May and July both $1.11 1/2 to $1.11 3/4, the wheat market hardened a trifle and then underwent a general sag.

INCOME TAX LARGER HERE

Federal Division Office Says Many More Returns Filed

Federal income taxes in this section this far are considerably above last year.
This is the observation of those B. E. Hitchcock and Fred Riley in the division office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau here. Returns generally are made on a greater income than last year.
"It looks like collections will be considerably above last year even with added exemptions," said Mr. Hitchcock.

Federal tax reports must be filed by March 15. Two deputy collectors will be in the local office from March 8 to March 15 to assist in making out returns. Already more than twice as many returns have been filed as the same date last year. Both Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Riley today left on a trip to Ashley, Wishek and Napoleon to meet and aid taxpayers who desire information in making out returns.

State income tax returns also must be filed by March 15.

FLAX IMPORT TO U.S. LARGE

Not Enough Grown to Meet Domestic Needs of Nation

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—The average yearly consumption of flax in the United States amounts to nearly 30,000,000 bushels while the average production is but 11,205,000, leaving about 20 million bushels to be imported in the form of seed and oil, according to figures compiled by T. E. Stoa, assistant agronomist at the North Dakota Agricultural college.
The acreage in 1923 was nearly double that of 1922, the figures show.
"Flax seed is on an import basis," says Mr. Stoa. "A tariff of 40 cents per bushel on flax seed and an equivalent tariff on linseed oil insures protection to the flax grower against the more cheaply produced large Argentine surplus and the smaller Canadian surplus," he explains.
"Increased consumers in this country, on the basis of $1.60 per bushel, the approximate Argentine price, will pay to farmers outside of the United States, during the crop year from July 1923 to July 1924, more than 20 million dollars," Mr. Stoa declares. "All signs point to a continuing good market for flax and lends encouragement to a further increase in flax acreage and production for 1924."

Mr. Stoa emphasizes, however, the need for careful selection of the seed as some varieties of flax are resistant to wilt and other varieties are not.

BIG TAX CUT IS PROPOSED

Experts Give Estimate of Cut Made by Revenue Bill

Washington, Mar. 4.—Treasury act-tries today gave it as their opinion that the tax bill, as passed by the house, will produce $446,000,000 less revenue than the existing law.
It would produce $113,000,000 more, the treasury figures indicate, than the Garner Democratic plan.
The treasury surplus under the present rates, according to the present estimates, will be only $233,000,000 so that the house bill, if finally enacted would result in a deficit of $123,000,000.

Losses in revenue under the bill as passed by the house are estimated to be $180,000,000 in normal income taxes; $150,000,000 in surtaxes; $90,000,000 in earned income and $125,000,000 in miscellaneous taxes. The same taxes as carried in the Garner plan would have resulted, according to the treasury, in losses from existing amounts of $227,000,000 in normal income taxes; $171,000,000 in surtaxes; $85,000,000 in earned income, and $126,000 in miscellaneous taxes.

DAIRYING IN STATE MAKES BIG PROGRESS

Grand Forks Convention of Dairymen's Association
Hears Reports Given

EVINE OPTIMISTIC

sees "New Day" in Agriculture Is Here — Other
Speakers on Program

Grand Forks, N. D., Mar. 4. The new day in agriculture for North Dakota does not lie ahead it is here, declared Commissioner of Immigration J. M. Devine in an address before the North Dakota Dairymen's association here today.

When North Dakota produced
$17,000,000 worth of creamery products in 1919 and $11,000,000 worth in 1923, when North Dakota produced but 30,000 bushels of wheat in 1919 and 30,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1923, when North Dakota had 18,000 acres of sweet clover in 1919 and 370,000 acres in 1923, when dairy production jumped from $4, 000,000 in 1918 to $10,000,000 in 1923, know we are on the way to a better North Dakota, said Devine. "We know we are on sure, sure and sure way."

Mr. Devine declared the remedy for the farming conditions in this state is to produce more and more dairy products, more corn, more cattle, more sheep, more hogs, more poultry, more everything alive on the farm to consume it.

In spite of the gloom and disheartening of the present, it doesn't p any to rock the boat, said Mr.
Devine. "North Dakota will weather the storm as she has all other storms because she is a brighter, better and bigger state just ahead. It is to be regretted that so much adverse and misleading reporting has come out from North Dakota to be spread broadcast in the ways and business marts of the country. No doubt, it was unintentional but just the same misleading and hurtful. It was not fair to the state, to the farmers or to the people general. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with North Dakota soil, climate, progress, or the heart of the people who live here. With 450,000 milk cows now in the state and that number increasing with equal rapidity and the quality of that corn equal to the best that Illinois or Iowa can produce, is in every way encouraging and a sure practical sign that we are on the way."

"Corn rests the land and destroys weeds; grain produces weeds and weeds destroy corn. Corn means successful diversification; it means less costly acreage but more bushels produced to the acre."

When a certain acreage of sweet corn or alfalfa is found on every farm; when we have enthroned corn king and the dairy cow as queen;
when more white faces, short horns and sheep dot our farm landscape;
when poultry has its place in the economy of every farm, mortgages will be lifted out—standing obligations paid and the farmer no longer borrowed but a depositor in the banks of the state in that day and time, the North Dakota farmer can and erect, move forward steadily, unfettered, untrammelled and unhindered. The problem that confronts therefore, is not solely for Washington, D. C. or for the capital at Bismarck to solve. It is largely our own particular individual problem of farm and city, and it must be settled intelligently and successfully by North Dakota brain and North Dakota brain educated and living on North Dakota soil."

Can Compete With All
"North Dakota can compete successfully with any state in the Union in butter production," declared J. R.
Devine, dairy specialist at the North Dakota Agricultural college, in an address delivered before the North Dakota Dairymen's Association today. "Few of us in this state realize cheaply and abundantly the advantages of this state can produce butter," the dairymen said, "and it is a truly feed but it is quality feed, with sweet clover and alfalfa, which we can easily grow here, the farmer can raise his entire dairy herd."

I know absolutely that the dairy herd will do well in all parts of the state. I know that farmers can grow and feed for the dairy herd wherever they can grow any kind of a crop," Devine said. "The selling price of dairy products has been relatively higher as compared to war prices, and in the price of any other product sold by the farmer for three

GENERAL VIEW OF WRECKED NITRATION PLANT

Almost a score of persons were killed and many hundreds injured when a terrific explosion wrecked the plant of the Nixon Nitration Works at Nixon four miles from New Brunswick, N. J. The concussion rocked houses within a radius of many miles and was heard as far away as lower New York City and Brooklyn. Photo shows general view of the wreckage, taken by an NEA staff photographer before the dust had settled. The explosion is believed to have started in the boiler room of the plant. All that remains of the boiler room is shown in foreground of picture.

AMBULANCES CARED FOR INJURED

Ambulances from Nixon and New Brunswick, N. J., were rushed to the wrecked plant of the Nixon Nitration Plant following the heavy explosion which took a toll of many lives. Photo shows one of them about to leave with the last of the injured. About 150 men and women were at work in the plant at the time, all of them tried up for the Saturday payroll.

years. Price for butter, for instance, in 1923 averaged about 15 per cent higher than 1922 prices.

High price, dairy products have naturally increased production, as every farmer that has had any kind of a cow has milked her, but consumption has also increased. Consumption of butter has increased 11 per cent during the past two years; consumption of milk has increased 16 per cent in the same time and cream has increased 25 per cent. Increase in consumption is apt to continue as long as employment conditions remain good, according to Mr. Dice.

The American people are using more dairy products, he said. They are learning that it is an essential food, and that even with the current prices, it is an economical food to buy. The limit in consumption has not yet been reached, he declared.

as the average person in the United States consumes 16.5 pounds of butter during a year, while in California the average consumption is 22 pounds of butter per person.

In stressing the advantages of dairying in North Dakota, Mr. Dice mentioned that North Dakota is situated that its farmers do not need to worry about transportation costs. The freight on a pound of butter to the eastern seaboard is about four per cent of the selling price of butter, while the freight on wheat amounts to 30 per cent of the selling price.

"It is the little things that count for the dairy farm, as well as in the dairy industry," stated the dairymen. The three or four things that we must most emphasize during the next few years in order to get started right are raising home-grown feed, care and feeding of the cows, the securing of better quality herds and putting out quality dairy products.

Well on Way
"North Dakota with her 535,000 dairy cows is well started on the milky way. Only one state, to the west of us has more dairy cows than we have, and we are rapidly gaining on that state. North Dakota now has more dairy cows than the two states of Washington and Oregon, and each of these states is boasting of their dairy industry."

"The population in the United States is increased about a half a million a year, and as it takes one cow for five people, somebody will have to raise 300,000 cows a year to keep up with the population and then somebody will have to raise a million or two more to take care of increased consumption of dairy products."

Exercise in Hammock Helps To Reduce Weight

To exercise the parts of the body in which fat accumulates and help to remove their physical condition a new folding hammock has been invented.

It is said to stretch the spine and the muscles stimulate circulation and reduce weight. The device consists of a metal framework, with springs at one end and head rest at the other. A strap goes under the chin. Canvas webbing shaped like a "Y" supports the body.

Farms in Cities Predicted in Seventy-Five Years

Small farms within the city limits double and triple-sized streets, and greatly enlarged traffic accommodations of all kinds, will be needed by New York within the next seventy-five years, it is predicted, to care for the 29,000,000 inhabitants who by that time are expected to fill the city and home.

Navy's Electric Eject Has Power for Giant Tanks

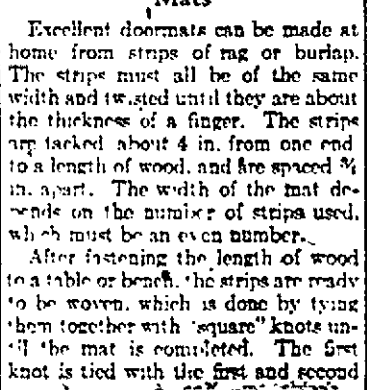

Electric energy generated by the six hand-cranked propellers propelled by electricity now humbered among the navy's floating craft, according to engineers, if applied to other tanks could furnish sufficient power to run 3,200 street cars or full forty-eight passenger trains.

A mountain of solid rock 5,000 feet high and the same distance through the base, if placed on an immense jack, could be lifted by the force required to operate the vessels, at the rate of a foot a day. Connected to pumps, it is enough to drain Lake Michigan at such speed that the level would be reduced 10 feet a year, or it could light, heat, and furnish power to 600 towns with populations of 5,000. Were it possible to use the energy in artillery, 200 tons of shells could be shot onto the moon each day.

Simple Method of Making Rag Mats

Excellent doormats can be made at home from strips of rag or burlap. The strips must all be of the same width and twisted until they are about the thickness of a finger. The strips are tacked about 4 in. from one end to a length of wood, and are spaced 3 in. apart. The width of the mat depends on the number of strips used, which must be an even number.

After fastening the length of wood to a table or bench, the strips are ready to be woven, which is done by tying them together with "square" knots until the mat is completed. The first knot is tied with the first and second strips, the second knot with the third and fourth strips, the third knot with the fifth and sixth strips and so on to the end. The second row of knots is begun by tying the second and third strips, then the fourth and fifth strips, and so on. The knots are all tied in the same way, and the method of doing this is plainly shown in the detail. A spacing peg must be used, so that all the knots will be of the same size; the knot is tied around the peg, which is then slipped out. The peg should be about 1 in. square and tapered to a point.

Lead-In Fits under Window

Fitting under a closed window, a flexible lead-in now on the market should prove popular with radio fans. The lead-in is thin and flat, and can be bent to any shape to fit closely to the window ledge.

It is covered with a fireproof, insulating material which prevents grounding of circuits on wet window sills, and eliminates the necessity of drilling holes and fitting porcelain tubes in the window frames. Tabs are provided at the ends for soldering the down lead from the aerial and the lead to the instrument. The fitting will prove of special benefit to radio enthusiasts living in apartments, where the drilling of window frames is usually prohibited.

Steam and frusted windows are a source of annoyance to many housewives. The new window frame structure the view but also soaks the glass through the accumulation of dust when sweeping or cleaning. A cloth containing a few spoons of tobacco, placed in the water to wash the windows, will overcome this trouble and will also improve the clear, crystal effect.

finds, Ohio, in an address before the North Dakota Dairymen's Association here today. He complimented the dairy industry on its growth in sections previously devoted almost entirely to wheat; declaring production of milk, butter, eggs, bacon, wool, cotton, sugar and other crops that take little mineral matter from the soil to be the only salvation for the American farmer.

"While the wheat farmer has appeared to make a profit the value of mineral matter in his product has made every crop, even at peak prices, an actual loss," he declared.

The speaker, who is at the head of 1,200 farmers who are building their own sugar factory at Defiance, Ohio, pointed out that much of the wheat country in North Dakota is well adapted to sugar beets, which he said were especially needed because beet pulp has been found excellent dairy feed.

CALIFORNIA MAY HAVE QUAKES

Santa Clara, Cal., March 3.—Earthquakes not only will be predicted in the future, but actually have been forecast in the past, said Father "Jerome S. Ricard, S. J., director of the University of Santa Clara observatory, in answer to an assertion made in Washington recently by Dr. Thomas A. Jager, Jr., government scientist, that continued study of seismological data will enable scientists to send out warnings of the approach of tremors.

Father Ricard, noted as a weather prophet, is known as "the Father of the Rains" and his theory of the relation of sun-spots to the weather has attracted wide attention.

"Earthquakes," he contended, "were first predicted by Marchand, a Frenchman, 25 years ago, by means of sunspots. Unfortunately he died without perfecting his system, and as usual his idea was greatly ridiculed."

"We took up the same idea here at Santa Clara, and tested it until 1914. Our findings were that a sun-spot crossing the central meridian, or happening in the vicinity, east or west, always synchronized with accounts of earthquakes somewhere on the globe given out by the press. Professor Albert Porta, of this observatory, became imbued with the findings and continued the study until his death last year."

Professor Porta's death determined Father Ricard to resume the study of predicting earthquakes.

Of the attitude of the public and even of the scientific world toward the theory advanced by Marchand, the Jesuit astronomer said: "It is hard for the layman, professional physicist though he be to see a causal nexus, or connection, between sun-spots and earthquakes, or sun-spots and weather. But this proves only the limitation of the human mind and its great ignorance, even among scientists."

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:
Gentlemen:
Your "Krumbled Bran," used by me as advised, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.
Yours truly,
Arlington H. Curman,
Pacheco, N. Y.

Mr. Curman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the

intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purges them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but All-bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Of all the family, father is apt to be the most careless of a cough or cold, and it is the duty of mother or the girls to see that he takes FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND at the first sign of a cough, cold or hoarseness. After he once tries it, finds out how effective and pleasant it is to take, he will not hesitate to use it always. Contains no opiates. Safe and sure. Has saved three generations.

SPRING SHOES

Our Footwear Is Being Designed Like Our Hats This Season

BY MARIAN HALE
NEA Service Writer

New York, March 4.—Glimpse at some of the shoes, pumps and other footwear just introduced for spring and you may believe the shoe manufacturers have gone into the millinery business.

Paris seems to have started this escapade of shoe designers into millinery, but New York and Chicago came out far behind. From Chicago comes word that shoes will vie with hats in fanciness and luxury. Models brought here from Paris and others developed in this territory carry out this notion.

Open work, fine stitching, combinations of rare leathers, luxurious colors, elaborate buckles, jewels—these are America's contributions to her women's shoe styles this spring. But Paris goes much further.

Heels of carved wood will be seen on the boulevards, matching the shoe leather in color and carrying out the applique pattern that trims the vamp and upper.

Since we have worn jeweled hats with success, there is no reason why every extra in Hollywood was needed to fill the immense cafe. Ginger ale flowed freely from champagne bottles, and director George J. Archainbaud secured the true atmosphere of a bacchanalian revel.

THE ELTINGE

"To the Ladies" is another James Cruze picture made from a good, human, honest story; the kind of a picture that makes a good entertainment for everybody. Theodore Roberts, Helen Jerome Eddy, Edward Horton and Louise Dresser are among the players. The photoplay is built on a theme rather than a plot. This emphasizes to what extent a clever wife can prove an important factor in her husband's success. Edward Horton as "Leonard Beebe" becomes manager of the Kincaid Piano Factory through activities of his wife, "Elsie Beebe," portrayed by Helen Jerome Eddy, after "Elsie" discovers that "John Kincaid," the factory owner, enacted by Theodore Roberts, owes his success to his wife, a part taken by Louise Dresser, the aforementioned appearing in featured roles.

PLANS FOR CONCERT

Elaborate plans are being made for the concert to be given at the Presbyterian church, March 13, by the quartet of the pipe organ fund. Members of the choir are very busy at rehearsal and a program will be announced early next week.

AT THE MOVIES

AT THE CAPITOL

Several of the principal players and more than five hundred extras worked through two nights making scenes for George J. Archainbaud's picture of "The Common Law," the Myron Selznick Master-picture now at the Capitol Theatre. The scenes represent one of New York City's big cafes as New Year's Eve, and one of the largest sets ever used in Hollywood was constructed—a replica of one of Broadway's famous gilded palaces. A jazz band played through both evenings to supply music to the dancers, and a ton of confetti, streamers, garlands, etc., was demolished in the effecting of wild pre-prohibition hilarity. Corlaine Griffith, Conway Tearle, Elliott Dexter, Phyllis Haver, Bryant Washburn, and Harry Myers served in the all-night vigil which lasted until five o'clock in the morning.

Several well known screen players visited the set and took part in the scenes of the frolic, and practically

Philadelphia, Mar. 4.—American motion pictures abroad are proving a handicap to American missionaries, according to a report read at a meeting of the Department of Christian Social Service and Institutions of the Episcopal Church of this diocese. Several of the principal players and more than five hundred extras worked through two nights making scenes for George J. Archainbaud's picture of "The Common Law," the Myron Selznick Master-picture now at the Capitol Theatre. The scenes represent one of New York City's big cafes on New Year's Eve, and one of the largest sets ever used in Hollywood was constructed—a replica of one of Broadway's famous gilded palaces. A jazz band played through both evenings and a ton of confetti, streamers, garlands, etc., was demolished in the effecting of wild pre-prohibition hilarity. Corinne Griffith, Conway Tearle, Elliott Dexter, Phyllis Haver, Bryant Washburn, and Harry Myers served in the all-night vigil which lasted until five o'clock in the morning. Several well known screen players visited the set and took part in the scenes of the frolic and practically

CLOCHE DEPARTURES

Here are two hats, fresh from Paris, showing that it is possible to escape the cloche, which is nearly always with us, if we want to. The turban, above, keeps a very close neat line about the face by means of its tightly wrapped folds. But in the back a wide bow gives a decidedly novel effect. The hat, below, is of plaid silk with a rolling, upturned brim, wider than we have been wearing, and the big bow is placed at the side at a youthful angle.

SPRING SHOES

BY MARIAN HALE
NEA Service Writer

New York, March 4.—Glance at some of the shoes, pumps and other footwear just introduced for spring, and you may believe the shoe manufacturers have gone into the millinery business.

Paris seems to have started this escapade of shoe designers into millinery, but New York and Chicago are not far behind. From Chicago comes word that shoes will vie with hats in fanciness and luxury. Models brought here from Paris and others developed in this territory carry out this notion.

Open work, fine stitching, combinations of rare leathers, luxurious colors, elaborate buckles, jewels—these are America's contributions to her women's shoe styles this spring. But Paris goes much farther. Heels of carved wood will be seen on the boulevards, matching the shoe leather in color and carrying out the applique pattern that trims the vamp and upper.

Since we have worn jeweled hats with success, there is no reason why every extra in Hollywood was needed to fill the immense cafe. Ginger ale flowed from champagne bottles, and director George J. Archainbaud secured the true atmosphere of a bacchanalian revel.

THE ELTINGE

"To the Ladies" is another James Cruze picture made from a good, human, honest story; the kind of a picture that makes a good entertainment for everybody. Theodore Roberts, Helen Jerome Eddy, Edward Horton and Louise Dresser are among the players. The photoplay is built on a theme rather than a plot. This emphasizes to what extent a clever wife can prove an important factor in her husband's success. Edward Horton as "Leonard Beebe" becomes manager of the Kinoid Piano Factory through activities of his wife, "Elsie Beebe," portrayed by Helen Jerome Eddy, after "Elsie" discovers that "John Kinoid," the factory owner, enacted by Theodore Roberts, owes his success to his wife, a part taken by Louise Dresser, the aforementioned all appearing in featured roles.

the jeweled shoe-heel included—shouldn't be popular. So Paris is introducing it to us this season.

There are pumps covered entirely with brilliant or pearl beads, combinations of kid and velvet, and other striking departures from the general run of shoe designs.

New York and the rest of America—may soon see them all. Back of it all is the desire of shoe dealers to educate the people in the proper wear of the various kinds of footwear at proper times. It's economical, they say.

"Ten pair of shoes," one explains, "is a conservative minimum for a well-dressed non-extravagant American woman. Five pairs should be the minimum for a man. But a woman needs shoes for morning, sport, formal and informal afternoon and evening. She must have several colors and styles in some of those classes. The business woman needs another style.

"This equipment will repay the cost in correctness of dress, and shoes worn properly and at the right times will give longer wear."

India Wants Self Government

Cocanada, India, Mar. 4.—The 35th session of the Indian National Congress, which closed recently, was marked by a renewed determination of the nationalists to continue their agitation until complete self-government has been achieved in India. The non-co-operators evidenced considerable encouragement over their victories in the government elections, having increased their numbers in each of the provincial councils and attained majorities in three. These nationalist councillors are pledged to block all legislation, and thus bring the reforms scheme to an end. Mohammed Ali, recently released from a two-year prison sentence, presided over the Congress meetings. In his presidential address, he narrated

The Future a Promise

The future holds a promise for the people of North Dakota. The deflation period has passed its peak here. The state has not lost its capable men. Those credits that were built on an unsound basis have collapsed and are being charged off. The change from the old single crop system to mixed or diversified farming is rapidly being accomplished.

All this tends toward the establishment of business on a sounder basis.

THE FOREIGN SERVICE
The Country has reason to congratulate itself upon the recent appointments of Mr. Charles B. Warren of Michigan as Ambassador to Mexico and of Mr. William Phillips of Massachusetts as Ambassador to Belgium.
Mr. Warren was formerly Ambassador to Japan, takes with him to Mexico City a thorough knowledge of the diplomatic service and a very intimate knowledge of conditions in Mexico gained through his work in connection with the commission which probed into and reported upon the question of recognition.
Mr. Phillips has worked his way through the diplomatic service. The recognition given him is a recognition both of the man and of the service. It is becoming more and more a policy of the United States to make diplomacy a career.
But before the service can really become a career, the Country must take steps to make it possible for men of ability, whatever their financial standing, to properly represent the United States in foreign capitals. It has been difficult at times to get men like Mr. Warren and Mr. Phillips to accept positions as ambassadors because of the heavy financial drain. There is a bill pending before Congress now—the Rogers Bill—which seeks to correct oldtime policy. It should pass.
One of the great factors in the maintenance of peace and of friendly relations with all the countries of the World depends very largely upon the trained ability of the men in these foreign posts. The greater the ability the greater probability of real service. It should be the aim of the United States to further every means of obtaining able representation.—Fargo Forum.

"How did you get in?" he asked.
"That's not easy in this house."
"I just got in the lift and told the boy I was your sister just arrived from the South and he let me in with the pass key. He took me for a minute and said that you weren't one for chickens he'd chance it."
"He'll get the sack in the morning."
"I don't care what happens to him." Suddenly she burst into tears, her face working like a baby's, and flung herself into her father's arms.
"Make him marry me, daddy. Make him! I want him. I want him."
Oglethorpe put his arms about her, but his sympathies were equally divided, and he understood men far better than he did young girls. "You wouldn't want to marry a man who doesn't love you," he said soothingly. "Where's your pride?"
"Who cares a damn about pride? I want him and that's all there is to it." She whirled round again. "Do you think you're in love with that rejuvenated old dame who's granny's age if she's a day? She's hypnotized you, that's what. It isn't natural. It isn't. It isn't."
"I certainly shall marry Madame Zattiany if she will have me."
"Oh-h." Tears dried. She showed her teeth like a treed cat. Her eyes blazed again and she would have precipitated herself upon him, but her father held her fast. "Oh! Oh! Oh! It can't be. It can't be. It's as unnatural as if you married granny. It isn't fair. How dare she come here with her whitewash and sneak young girls' lovers away from them?"
"Really, Janet."
"Oh, I know, you thought you didn't care for me, but you always did, and I'd have got you in time. I know there was no chance for

I see her when there's a lot of people round I'll tell her just what she is to her face."
"If you dare!" Clavering advanced threateningly and she swung herself behind her father, who, however, took her firmly by the arm and marched her to the door.
"Enough of this," he said. "You come home and pack your trunk and tomorrow we take the first steamer out of New York. If there isn't one, we'll take the train for Canada."
"I won't go."
"It's either that or a sanitarium for neurotics. I'll have you strapped down and carried there in an ambulance. You may take your choice. Good night, Leg. Forget it, if you can."
As Clavering slammed the door behind him, he eyed men who could tear their hair. He had wanted to spend a long evening alone thinking of Mary Zattiany, dreaming of those vital hours before him, and he had been treated to a double nightmare. For the moment he hated everything in petticoats that walked, and he felt like taking a steamer to the ends of the earth himself. But he was more worn out than he knew and was sound asleep fifteen minutes later.

XXXIV
Janet had her revenge. Words have a terrible power. And Janet's vocabulary might be as primitive as lightning, but unlike lightning it never failed to strike.
"That old Zattiany woman," she said to a thousand years old and nobody cares what she does. "That rejuvenated old dame who's granny's age if she's a day." "Much happier than your grandmother." The phrases flashed into his mind when he awoke and echoed in his ears all day. No doubt similar phrases, less crude, but equally scorching, were being tossed from one end of New York Society to the other. If Janet knew of his devotion to Madame Zattiany others must, for it could only have come to her on the wings of gossip. He was being ridiculed by people who grasped nothing beyond the fact that the

BROUGHT TO JUSTICE
The action of the federal grand jury in Chicago in indicting Charles R. Forbes, former head of the Veterans Bureau, will be greatly more impressive than a score of congressional investigations that end in divided reports along party lines. The charges of extravagance and fraud in the Veterans Bureau brought forth in Washington on the floor of Congress and before investigating committees led straight to the grand jury room. No official could have been more derelict in his duty than one who would traffic in the welfare of the wounded veterans of the World War; nor can it be denied that Forbes wholly failed to do his duty in charge of that bureau. The people of the nation will be glad to see Forbes brought before the bar of justice, where a fair trial may determine his guilt.
The former head of the Veterans Bureau resorts to a method of newspaper defense quite as reprehensible as some of the things he is charged with doing. He launched a flood of vituperation against his accusers in an endeavor to shunt public attention from his own case. He threatens exposures, but he has done this before and has exposed no one. If Forbes continues to convict others of crookedness by innuendo and then fails to name them he will add one more black mark against himself. Secretary Fall used the same tactics in endeavoring to shield himself in the oil investigation. He assailed others and questioned their honesty, which in itself is not only no defense of himself but excited suspicion in the minds of the people of the country.
There have been charges that the Teapot Dome investigation is a political effort. It is to be hoped that the investigation will lead straight into the courts, that the matter may be determined and the guilty, if they are criminally guilty, punished.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
The next person the Twins met in Beantank Land was a little boy—a little boy for Beantank Land, but a very big boy for any other place. The Twins were not half way to his shoe tops.
"What's the matter, little boy?" called Nancy as loudly as she could. But whether it was because she was so tiny or because he was making such a noise with his wailing, the little Beantank boy didn't hear a word.
"Boo, hoo, hoo!" he roared. "Oh, oh, boo, hoo, hoo!"
"What's wrong?" yelled Nick at the top of his lungs, making a ring with his hands around his mouth at the same time, so that really almost anybody would have thought there was a fire somewhere.
But still the boy didn't hear.
"Climb up and shout in his ear," suggested Nancy. "Perhaps we can help him."
So he climbed Nick, with the help of his little green shoes. He did it so quickly and the little boy was crying so hard that the Beantank boy never noticed that he had a visitor until he heard a voice right beside his ear wanting to know what the trouble was.
"Who—who are you?" cried the Beantank boy. "Are you a fairy or something?"
"No, just me," laughed Nick. "I mean, just I. And the other half of me is down there on the ground beside me."
"Ooo! I'm afraid to look," shivered the boy. "How can you be alive if there is only half of you?"
"Don't be afraid," Nick assured him. "We're twins, you see."
So the Beantank boy peeped first at Nancy, and then taking Nick off his shoulder with his huge hand, looked at him, too. "Where did you come from?" he giggled. "You're awfully cute! Are you fairies, or toys come to life, or what? I never saw anything like you before."
So Nick told him as loudly as he could how they had planted a magic bean like Jack's and when a big beantank grew suddenly to the sky, they had climbed it as quickly as they could. And that was how they happened to be in Beantank Land.
"What were you crying for?" asked Nick suddenly.
"Crying? Oh, I forgot, so I was," exclaimed the boy. "Boo, hoo, hoo! I have to go to the dentist's, and have a tooth fixed at 10 o'clock, and I don't want to be late. And he started to cry all over again, so hard that Nick thought he was going to be drowned.
"Where do you live?" shouted Nick.
"O—over there!" sobbed the boy. "Over there in that red house, and it's nearly 10 o'clock now."
Nick slid down to the ground, where Nancy was waiting. "Say," he declared, "I don't blame him for yelling. I don't like to go to the dentist's either. Perhaps we can do something to help him. What do you say if we go over to the red house and see what can be done?"
"I don't think we ought to do a thing," declared Nancy. "If he has to go to the dentist's, that's all there is to it. I hate cowards."

But Nick wasn't so sure. "We fellows have to stick together," said he. "And I'm going to do something. You can come along if you like."
So poor Nancy had to go whether she wanted to or not.

MANDAN NEWS

PRETTY WEDDING
A pretty wedding was solemnized at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Miss Eva Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Taylor, was united in marriage to James Clyde Stark, son of Mrs. Anna Stark. Rev. H. H. Owen of the Presbyterian church performed the ceremony, which was held at the home of the bride's parents on Second street Northwest. Only members of the two families were present for the wedding ceremony.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Funeral services were held at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. L. Dow, for the late Eli Baker who died early Saturday morning at Northwood, N. D. Rev. H. H. Owen of the Presbyterian church had charge of the services, interment taking place in the Mandan cemetery.
Eli Baker, aged 84, was born at Ayresbury, Bucks, England, October 7, 1840. He was married at London, England in 1865 to Elizabeth Ann Baker and came to America in 1870 going to London, Canada, where he had charge of a large estate.
He came to Mandan, N. D., in 1881, and the following year took up a homestead on the Knife River about what is now the town of Stanton. He returned to Mandan in 1888, shortly thereafter going to New Salem where he operated a large farm with his son Eli Baker, Jr., for many years. He returned to Mandan in 1904 and in 1905 took a position as gardener in charge of the Northern Pacific depot park which he continued to hold until his advancing age forced his retirement in 1922.
He was widely known throughout the county and had a prominent part in the early building work in this area. His homestead near Stanton was one of the very first filed upon in what is now Mercer county.
Three daughters and one son, Mrs. F. L. Dow and Mrs. Rattle Morrow of Mandan; Mrs. Don Stevenson of Carson, and Ernest Baker of El Monte, Calif., and two sisters and one brother in England survive. His wife died at New Salem January 4, 1904.

MEET IN DEBATE

Mandan and Steele high schools will meet in an inter-district debate at Mandan on the evening of March 21st, as was announced yesterday. Steele high school was given the right to choose the side of the question and decided on the affirmative. The same question that Mandan and Dickinson debated a week ago will again be discussed, that of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes project. Steele has eliminated Jamestown and Bismarck and Mandan has eliminated Dickinson. The winner of this debate will probably be pitted against the winner in the Fargo district in the semi-finals.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARLTON, CONTINUED
Sometimes I think that women's minds are much cleverer than men's. They have to educate them or rather cultivate them because, of course, we have always had the muscular strength and they got their own only by quicker thinking and cleverer planning.

I confess I was much surprised when Ruth said to me that Leslie would not worry very much if she did not have to give the boy a divorce. I thought it would hurt her beyond everything to know of my peccadilloes even though I swear to you I have been as straight as a string since our marriage.

Ruth however insisted that the best plan of all was to make a clean breast of it. She made a somewhat ambiguous remark when she said this, that I have been very curious about.

She said, "I have been having a good deal of experience lately with trying to keep things from other people that are perfectly innocent in themselves, because of being afraid that the other person would be hurt. It seems to me, Jack, that when two people are married or even friends, if you cannot be truthful and perfectly straightforward and sincere with each other you had better break up altogether."

"Do you suppose, Syd, by any possibility that Leslie is concerned in that six thousand dollars? Really, I'm rather ashamed of that question, but all the while it keeps nagging me. Of course, I knew positively that even if Leslie and I were six thousand dollars apart, she did not want me to know about it. It would be nothing derogatory to her. But I cannot understand why Leslie should have six thousand dollars she did not want me to know about."

"I have explained it to myself this way, probably she had her father for more money than she gave me so that she might have a little nest egg if we got into any more trouble. But even this is so, it gives me a new light on Leslie's character. I did not dream that she had the slightest thought she would not confide in me.

I wonder if every man has this same feeling about his wife. After what Ruth said about possession, I have come to the conclusion that I am consciously or unconsciously a possessive man, as something wholly in my keeping.

I am quite sure now that this is not so, especially as Ruth proceeded to explain in answer to my question. It is possible, Jack, you have not found that by some kind dispensation of nature a woman, after the first flush of passionate love has passed in her married life, is almost sure to have children and with most women maternal love is stronger than wife's.

Children are not as disappointing as husbands, principally I suppose because the mother feels they are her possessions. Love as we know it means possession. It will never be perfect until it means mutual giving."

"Do all women hold these opinions?" I asked, forgetting for the moment my own troubles in this brand new idea.

"She whirled round again. 'Do you think you're in love with that rejuvenated old dame who's granny's age if she's a day?'"

Marian and Anne: they're old maids, and I'm young—youth. If I'd cut out the fun and concentrated on I'd have got you. I wish I had! But you were such an old fat fire I thought you were safe."

"What in heaven's name makes you think you're in love with me?" you exploded Clavering. "Your opinion of me is anything but complimentary, and I'm everything your chosen companions are not. You don't want me any more than I want you! You've simply been playing some fool game with yourself."

"It's not! It's not! It's the real thing. I've been in love with you since I was six. Ask daddy, didn't I always say I was going to marry him?"

"Yes, when you were little more of a baby than you are now. Can't you imagine how ashamed you'll be of such an unbecoming performance as this?"

"I ashamed? Not much. I always intend to do that as I please and damn the consequences."

"A fine wife you'd make for Lee or any other man."

"I'd make him the best wife in the world. I'd do everything he told me. No, I wouldn't. Yes, I would." She finished up and the spirit of the day seemed to locate herself. "I'd make you happy, because I'd be happy myself," she added naively. "Much happier than your grandmother."

"Perhaps you will oblige me by making no further allusion to Madame Zattiany."

"No, I won't. And the first time

He Memory's Father. Everybody in the village knew Rastus Johnson and everybody talked to him.

He was working one day for a member of the Ladies Aid Society, and as he was about to go home, he said pleasantly:

"I hear, Rastus, that you've seen the time when President Washington was in office. Is that true?"

Rastus rolled the whites of his eyes and smiled a sad, but reminiscent smile.

"Well," he said, "all used to seed it, but dat was betwixt prohibition went into 'ect."—Los Angeles Times.

MODERN LIVING COMPARED TO 13TH CENTURY

Town City, Jan. March 1, 1924. Censorship 700 years ago consisted of cutting out the army and "keeping alive" the ruling, puritanical minds," according to Prof. Nello S. Aurner of the English department, University of Iowa.

From about the middle of the twelfth century to early in the thirteenth, monks and scholars were having their life in the remote, as literature of southern France and "black even" roamed wild through Provence," says Prof. Aurner. "Troubadour poetry reflected the spirit of the times."

"No romance had the people of this region because they put loyalty in one's hand and above everything else, even the church and state."

It is marked too much of the hereditary to suit those in power. The Albigensian crusades of 1209 was begun to correct the situation. Southern France saw so much bloodshed and hardship people sickened of the affair. Troubadour poetry and all its kind went down in the smoke. When the smoke lifted the courts had won, but the song had passed over in the stories that grew up about King Arthur and the knights of the Round Table.

The present school of sentimentality in literature is a compromise between the old and the new. The school of the 13th century was a school of both ages. The school of the 13th century was a school of both ages. The school of the 13th century was a school of both ages.

BROAD ACRES, BLOODED STOCK ON FALL'S RANCH

NEA photo. The ranch house and the cowboy guards on A. B. Fall's ranch near Three Rivers, N. M. A few days ago they obtained pictures of the colonial ranch house where the former secretary of the Interior lived. But these photos show the broad acres of the ranch itself, and a portion of the interior. The top one reveals how Fall has transformed the sandy wastes along the lower slopes of the Sierra Blanca Mountains into fertile fields and pasture land. Irrigation and ditches were built. Then a hydro-electric power plant, with 10 miles of transmission line, was erected. Thousands of head of cattle were brought to get control of water power Fall wanted. And right now, the former secretary is selling water to a railroad company for $1000 a month. The lower picture shows blue-blooded Holsteins and registered Herefords grazing on massive ordinary range cattle.

JUDGE PROTECTS WEALTHY FROM HIGH LEGAL FEES

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 4.—Declaring that "similar service has similar value for rich and poor alike," Judge Fuller of the common pleas court reduced an attorney's fee from the $5,000 sought to $1,000. Suit had been instituted for the collection of the $5,000 fee for services and expenses in connection with the release of a client from a state institution. Before rendering his opinion the court obtained figures from other members of the bar and found that fees on such cases ranged from $500 to $900.

After making the observation regarding similar service, the court said that "while the poor may be charged less, the rich should not be charged more than the service is reasonably worth for this would be unethical and unprofessional. Nor can we doubt the value of freedom regained as a very material factor in the case."

That standard, since the value of freedom like the value of life is beyond computation, the compensation of the attorney might easily lead to confiscation of the client's property although the services, as here, might involve no particular learning, skill, experience or difficulty.

COOLIDGE FOR PRINCIPLES OF MELLON'S BILL

President Tells Inquirers That He Has Not Changed His Position

Washington, March 4.—Adherence to the principles and provisions of the Mellon tax plan was reaffirmed today by President Coolidge.

Mr. Coolidge's position relative to tax regulation remains exactly as outlined in his message to Congress, declaring for the Mellon plan.

This was made clear at the White House in answer to inquiries about the compromise bill passed by the house.

A direct inquiry as to whether the President would approve the compromise bill brought the reply that he could not say at this time whether he would veto or approve a hypothetical measure.

COMPANY "A" HOLDS BANQUET

Efficiency of Organization Stressed at Gathering

A chicken dinner was served last evening after drill by the officers and non-commissioned officers of Company A to the entire company at the Frederic Cafe. Capt. Brown acted as toastmaster. Speeches were delivered by First Lieut. Schanzowski, Sgt. Schmidt, Avery, and Blensly and Corporals Lindahl and Osborn. An exceptionally fine vocal solo was sung by Private Jack Feltig.

"Experiences in France" by Lieut. Schanzowski was particularly interesting. Other subjects spoken upon were "Cooperation among members of the Company," "Bayonet Training" and "Ways of Aiding the Company by Keeping Accurate and Up-to-date Records."

This dinner was given in order to bring the personnel of the company into closer touch with each other, to increase its efficiency, and to promote a stronger feeling of fellowship. It is proposed to have these dinners frequently, at which times subjects of benefit to the company will be discussed.

COULTER BILL IS OPPOSED

Strenuous Objections Comes Out on Senate Floor

Washington, March 4.—Strenuous opposition greeted the appearance in the senate of the first special farm relief measure—the Norbeck-Burtress bill proposing the loan of $75,000,000 to finance diversification. Declaring it was "paternalism run rampant," Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, said it was time to call a halt upon such measures.

"We are proposing to loan this money," he said, "for the purpose of enabling the average farmer to keep livestock on land never adaptable for grazing; or to raise other crops where the land will not produce but one. We have already gone the limit along this line."

Senator Fletcher's attitude was understood to be that of several other senators on the Democratic side and of some Republicans. An effort of Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, to end debate at 3 p. m. today was blocked by notification from several senators that they desired to discuss the measure.

Urge Norbeck As Vice-President

Minneapolis, Mar. 4.—A movement urging Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota as the Republican nominee for vice president will come before the Hennepin county Republican convention here Wednesday afternoon.

A resolution to that effect has been prepared by Guy V. Howard of Minneapolis and will be submitted to the convention.

In advocating the recommendation of Senator Norbeck, Mr. Howard points out that the South Dakota senator has given splendid service to northwestern farmers and has been a leader in the movement to relieve them of their present economic stress.

COUPLE MARRIED 64 YEARS HAVE NEVER HAD A QUARREL

MR. AND MRS. NACHMAN FIRESTONE, MARRIED 64 YEARS.

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN

NEA Service Staff Writer

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 4.—Married for 64 years without ever having a quarrel.

That's the record of Mr. and Mrs. Nachman Firestone, who live here.

"It may sound like fiction," said the 83-year-old man. "But it sure is a fact."

And his 77-year-old wife seconded him.

She was only 13 when she was married to Nachman. "But the age of marriage makes little difference," her husband went on. "The thing that counts is the knowledge that the principals really love each other. And I guess we do."

Eight of their children are living. And all have homes near their parents.

"Watching them grow up kept us from growing old in the old days," confided the venerable Mr. Firestone. "And now we watch their grandchildren. They act as tonic for our eternal youth."

Until six months ago he took an active part in his real estate business. But now he is spending more time at home.

Playing pinocle with his wife until one or two o'clock in the morning.

COMMUNITY BATH HOUSE PROVIDED IN EARLY DAKOTA INDIAN VILLAGES

A community "Turkish" bath house was provided in the early Indian villages according to H. C. Loy, proprietor of the Stanton Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Loy are old-timers in this locality, having come to the vicinity of Stanton in 1882, via boat from Bismarck up the Missouri river, the year before Mercer County was organized.

Mr. Loy tells of visiting an Indian village on the east side of the river, west of the old Fort Berthold and finding in the center a kind of a community club and meeting house, of good size and octagon in shape, built of logs, with dirt roof.

In the center of this building was a depression which was "puddled" or in some way made to hold water. When the tribe wanted a bath, water would be placed in this depression and stones heated in fires on the outside would be thrown in. The result would be big clouds of steam and vapor and "Those present" would receive a typical Turkish bath in this crude manner.

Whether the whole tribe participated at the same time in this form of ablution is not known but it is thought unlikely that this was true.

Find Skeletons

Evidently not all Indians were buried in the manner described above as a lot of skeletons have been exhumed in digging cellars for buildings in Stanton. Mr. Loy states that in digging the cellar for the Hotel Stanton, that three skeletons were found. Two of these had been buried in a sitting posture.

Some valuable Indian relics were found buried with these skeletons. Among others was a lot of circular discs, about the size of a dime and about four times as thick, with a hole in the center, evidently cut in some way from clam shells, which was without doubt the early Indian "Wampum" or money. Mr. Loy has quite a string of these. He also has some bone and stone instruments which were evidently used in skinning and tanning buffalo hides, and an Indian hammer-head large enough to make a sledge-hammer, if of iron. Several tomahawk heads made of iron were picked up in this vicinity. These were evidently made by white men and one bears the imprint "Shonwell" being probably made in St. Louis and used by traders to barter for furs.

In visiting this village Mr. Loy crossed the river in what was called a "Bill-buot," made by the Indians. It was made of a wood frame, almost circular, and on this was stretched a green buffalo hide. Two squaws with their paddles were the motive power. One hesitated to get into such a crazy craft, but the trip was made over and back without mishap.

SOLDIER BONUS IS DISCUSSED

Merits of Legislation Before Congressional Committee

Washington, Mar. 4.—Merit of soldier bonus legislation and the form in which the bonus should be paid were discussed at a public hearing today before the house ways and means committee.

Considerable emphasis was given by speakers before the committee yesterday to paid up insurance policies as a means of adjusted compensation. American Legion officials expressed a willingness to accept whatever method might be adopted by Congress.

John Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of the National Legislative committee of the Legion urged, however, that action be speeded on the bill.

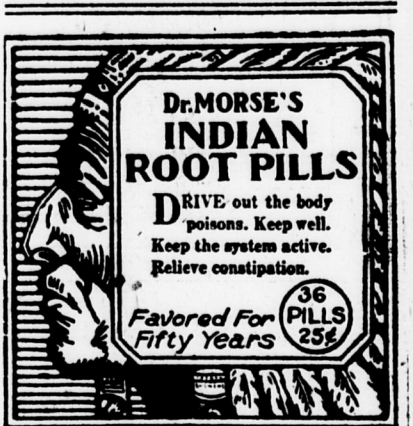

Representatives Oldfield, Arkansas, and Garner, Texas, Democratic members of the committee, indicated by their questions that they favored a two-fold option plan giving veterans an opportunity to choose either cash payments or insurance policies. A committee of five appointed by the house Democratic conference attended the hearings, planning later to make known its position on the legislation.

HASTINGS CASE IS PUT OVER

Continuance Is Taken Until March 27 by Court

Fargo, N. D., Mar. 4.—Preliminary hearing of A. C. Townley and J. J. Hastings, charged jointly with the embezzlement of $72,903.23 of the Consumers United Stores company, was continued until March 27 at 9:30 a. m. shortly after it had reached the rebuttal stage before Judge Leigh J. Monson yesterday afternoon. This is the second long continuance in the hearing which opened early in February and after a few days was continued until last Thursday, February 28.

The defense rested its case at 3:15 p. m. J. W. Brinton, complaining witness, was called to the stand by the state in the opening of its rebuttal and at 5 p. m., when court was ready to adjourn until this morning, it became evident that the case could not be completed in another day. Opposing counsel arranged for the continuance until March 27, by which time it is believed that the trial of the cases arising out of alleged irregularities in the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo, in which both Townley and Hastings are involved, will be completed.

Hastings' Statement Not Admitted. A statement, purporting to be a confession of Hastings' relations with the various Nonpartisan League enterprises, including the bank, the Consumers Stores and others, made by Hastings to LeSeuer at the time the former was returned to Fargo from California to face a charge of embezzling $3,000 of the funds of the Scandinavian-American bank, but which Hastings testified was made under threat of prison by LeSeuer and of promises of immunity from further prosecution and of a position in the Bank of North Dakota or as receiver of one of the closed banks, was brought up at the opening of the hearing yesterday morning, but was not introduced in evidence. It was offered but the offer was withdrawn after the defense had examined Hastings at length for the purpose of laying a foundation for an objection to the statement.
